Warren County History

Warren County was established by an act of the First General Assembly of Ohio on March 4, 1803, and named for General Joseph Warren, the patriot of Bunker Hill fame. This Act became effective May 1, 1803 and from that date the history of Warren County as a civil division begins.

Lebanon was selected as the county seat because of its central location. The county covers an area of 408 square miles and is comprised of eleven townships.

Three additions have been made to the Court House that was completed in 1835, and which is still in use today. Also used by the over 300 county employees are the Administration Building, the County Office Building, and the Engineer's Building.

Warren County is an historic area. Among its earlier distinguished men were Jeremiah Morrow, John McLean, Robert Schenck, Thomas Corwin, Alfred Holbrook, James M. Smith, A. G. McBurney, and many others who have directed the destiny of our state and nation.

Among its historic attractions are Ft. Ancient, a remarkable pre-historic earthworks; The Golden Lamb, Ohio's oldest hotel established in 1803; The Western Star, a newspaper established in 1807; Glendower, an Ohio State Museum; The Warren County Museum, a Warren County Historical Society Museum and Library; and the General E. Forrest Harding Home, a Franklin Area Historical Society Museum and Library.

The Little Miami River flows for 31 miles through the county, and is the first river in Ohio proposed for protection under the Federal Wild and Scenic Rivers Act, with planned areas for canoeing, picnicking, and camping.

Warren County is one of the fastest growing counties in the state, and is recognized for its good housing facilities, churches, schools, and business institutions.

Exceptions to account

Ex Parte } War. Com. Pleas
Ben Baldwin Exto &c } Settlement of Martin Warner's Estate

And the said Jacob Warner & Elizabeth Warner come & file their exceptions to the account & vouchers exhibited by said Exto as follows, to wit;

First. They except to the Debit side of said account for the following reasons

1. Because said Exto has not, as they verily believe, accounted for the whole of decedants personal estate, the whole of which amounted to about eight hundred dollars, but as the Exto has not, as he should have done, filed the original Inventory & appraisement, & sale bill of decedants estate & had the same recorded according to law, it is impossible for these exceptors to point out accurately what particular items or articles of property are not accounted for, not knowing what items or articles are intended to be accounted for in the aggregate amount set down on the debit side of said account of $216.21 under the head of Sale bill — These exceptors therefore demand that the original Inventory & appraisement & sale bill of decedent's estate be exhibited, filed & recorded according to law—

2. Because said Exr has not faithfully accounted for all claims owing to decedent's estate at the time of his death, & which have been collected or might have been collected by said Exr —

3d. These exceptors, without further explanation do not know what is meant by the item "the note of hand made payable to the widow by Benjamin Baldwin for $36" — they have no objection to his charging himself with $36 if he deems proper to do so; but not in that shape — for they have no knowledge of such note.

4. The exr has received & is chargeable with a large amount of interest, but has accounted for none

Secondly, These exceptors except to the credit side of said account for the following reasons—

1 They except to items & vouchers Nos. 11. 14. 18 & 29. & also to the item of $4.75 for the Tax receipt which has been "lost or mislaid" as is alleged, because said taxes were all paid for Elizabeth Warner (if paid at all) & not on account of the estate of decedent; and that, too, out of funds belonging to the said Elizabeth in the hands of the said Benjamin Baldwin authorized by her to be by him appropriated for that purpose.

2. They except to item No 13 because the same was not paid out of the funds of said estate nor on account of said estate; but was paid for said Elizabeth & out of her funds in the said Benjamin Baldwin's hands, in no wise connected with said estate.

3. They except to item No 22 because there is no voucher exhibited to support it — & these exceptors do not know what it is for.

4 They except to item & voucher No 30 because they do not understand what it means — they believe it to be an improper credit.

5. They except to item & voucher No 31 because the work & material, if done & furnished at all & paid for by the said Benjamin which is not admitted — were done and furnished for the said Elizabeth & not for the estate & therefore have no connection whatever with the estate And moreover said work & material, were paid for by the said Elizabeth to the said Benjamin, in Corn sold & delivered to him by Elizabeth at his request to pay for said work & material, &c.

6 They except to item & voucher No 23 because it is not shewn, what interest the estate had in the recording of "two deeds".

7. They except to the item of $16.91 represented as property received by Jacob Warner which the appraisement list & sale bill will shew because there is no appraisement list, or sale bill filed, recorded or produced that shews the fact.

8. They except to the whole of the credit side of said account under the head of "extra services" because they are unsupported by proper vouching or a proper shewing, and are improper credits.

And these exceptors pray that said account current & vouchers may

June 30, 1961.

Dear Mrs. McCoy:-

Your note of June 22, regarding the faunion of the Ludlum family on July 30, was received. From your reference to Aunt Waty, I have no idea what the family connection is. Here is a short resume' of my husbands genealogy so perhaps you can figure the relationship from it.

Mr. Heaps' mother was Ann Eliza Ludlum, daughter of George Ludlum and his wife Sarah Rebecca Sturm. George Ludlum died as a result of illness contracted in the Civil War. George Ludlum was born May 23, 1835, Warren County, Ohio and died at Camp Parole Maryland December 26, 1864. George Ludlum was the son of Smith Ludlum, born August 1794 at Elizabeth, New Jersey died at Morrow County, Ohio, Dec 31, 1842. That Smith Ludlum was the son of Smith Ludlum, born Sept. 15, 1765 at Elizabeth. New Jersey, died at Hopkinsville, Ohio. Think that is probably far enough back so you can figure the relationship.

Now as to the reunion. Mr. Heaps and I were able to attend one reunion some eight or nine years ago, and thoroughly enjoyed meeting the people attending, as well as the beautiful home of Mrs. Zieger. The difficulty we experience in trying to attend is that we live one hundred anf fity miles or more from Sawyer, Michigan. In hot weather it is practically impossible to prepare something for the pot luck dinner and carry it that far and still have it appetizing enough to eat. It requires all of three hours to drive from here to Sawyer. I have wondered if it wouldn't be a good idea to have some church organization serve a dinner at a nominal price and then have the social and business meeting at the home of Mrs. Zieger. Also, that arrangement would relieve Mrs. Zieger of considerable responsibility.

As to this years reunion it is possible that we may be able to attend. Our son, John M. Heaps, and his wife live at 200, N. W. 145th. Street, Miami, Florida (Telephone Mu 5-2322) They are planning to drive up sometime the last of July or first of August and if they are here at that time we will make an effort to attend. Clyta, Johns wife, teaches music in the Miami school system and since she is Secretary, I believe, of a National Music Educatos society, she is supposed to attend a meeting in Denver starting August fifth. She will take the train from here to Denver and John will stay with us till her return.

For a number of years Mr. Heaps has been employed by Holabird and Root in Chicago so has been home only on week ends. However, he expects to retire about the middle of July. We have both passed our three score and ten years so extra activity requires extra effort so a drive of a hundred and fifty miles and back in a day means a great deal of effort.

In case we are not able to be with you on July 30th. will you convey our greetings to those assembled and especially to Mrs. Zieger.

Will be glad to hear from you again.

Sincerely,
Charity M. Heaps"

fully at Red Lion. It was supposed to have been caused by eating fish which were tainted. The water had been drawn off the Miami Canal and quantities of fish were left in the pools and mud in the bed of the canal. A great many persons from the vicinity of Red Lion caught them, and nearly every one who ate them was taken with the cholera, and, as it was a comparatively new disease to the physicians here, they did not understand how to manage the cases, and, as a consequence, a large majority of them proved fatal. Samuel N. Gustin was the first victim. It is said that, although the cherry trees were loaded with fruit, that year, the birds would not touch it, and it hung on the trees and dried. The disease was confined almost exclusively to Red Lion and vicinity, and to those who had partaken of the fish.

In a pretty early day, Col. John McDannell, who had been a Colonel in the Revolutionary war, and who possessed all the hauteur of a "gentleman of the olden time," came from Dauphin County, Penn., with his family, and settled on the farm now owned by D. F. Corwin. They came all the way in a carriage, which was probably the first carriage ever brought into the township, if not the first in the county, and had a negro driver.

It was a hard matter to decide which of the two, the carriage or the driver, was the greater curiosity. The young men used to go there on Sunday and get the negro to run the carriage out so that they could examine it thoroughly; this they continued to do until Mrs. McDannell came out and ordered them off for desecrating the Sabbath. We are not able to say whether the young ladies visited these curiosities or not. But, from the well-known lack of curiosity in the sex, it is presumable that they did not. The carriage must have been a counterpart of Holmes' wonderful "One-Hoss Shay," as it is said to be in a good state of preservatioh yet.

Mr. Job Mullin mentions that when Gen. Clay's troops were passing through this region, as previously noticed, the officers had their negro servants with them, and the negroes excited the curiosity of the school children more, perhaps, than the soldiers, although they had never seen either before.

This concludes our history of the township. We have endeavored to give the facts as correctly as possible, and, if any errors have been stated, it was not intentional. Of course, many incidents and facts have been omitted, but that was unavoidable. We can only hope that what we have written may prove satisfactory.

HAMILTON TOWNSHIP.

BY HORACE CLINTON.

In the first division of Warren County, it was divided into four townships, named Franklin, Deerfield, Wayne and Hamilton. Hamilton then embraced all of Salem and Hamilton, and most of Washington Township. June 24, 1813, the eastern portion of the township was cut off, by a line drawn south from the mouth of Todd's Fork to the south boundary of Warren County, and erected into a new township, called Salem. June 8, 1818, the then existing boundary line between Salem and Hamilton was changed to the present line.

We now have a township in the shape of a rectangle, being about six and a half miles from north to south, and five and one-half miles from east to west, and containing about thirty-six square miles. The whole of the township is included within what is called Virginia military land. The State of Virginia, at an early period of the Revolutionary war, raised two descriptions of troops, State and Continental, to each of which bounties in land were promised. In March, 1784, Virginia ceded her lands north of the Ohio to the General Government upon certain conditions, one of which was that, in case certain other lands south of the Ohio River were insufficient for the legal bounties for her troops, the deficiency should be made up from lands north of the Ohio, between the Rivers Scioto and Little Miami. In 1783, the Legislature of Virginia authorized the officers of their respective lines to appoint superintendents to regulate the survey of the bounty lands promised.

OHIO

An office for the reception of locations and surveys was opened at Louisville, Ky., August 1, 1784, and on the 1st of August, 1787, the said office was open for the reception of surveys and locations on the north side of the Ohio.

Land warrants calling for from one hundred to five hundred acres were issued to various individuals, who located them in such places and shapes as best suited them, and this fact accounts for the irregularity of surveys, lines, roads, etc., throughout the township. The whole territory was then in the possession of the Indians.

The first warrant located within the present limits of the township was No. 520, in the extreme northeastern part of the township, and embraces the farms of Capt. Donally, Dr. Roach, Thomas, Joseph, and Levi Baker and William Ditmas. Those acquainted with the lands would doubtless say that it was a good selection. This entry was made by Lieut. William McGuire, August 21, 1787—number of acres, 1,000. It was surveyed by Nathaniel Massie, District Surveyor, January 29, 1793; Matthew Hart and Jonathan Stout, chain carriers; Thomas Massie, marker.

No. 1546—The records do not show by whom this entry was made. Surveyed by William Lytle, District Surveyor, April 12, 1792; Robert Campbell and Martin Varner, chain carriers; Henry Ball, marker.

No. 1496 was entered August 21, 1787, by John Bemis (assignee); number of acres, 1,500. Surveyed October 6, 1792, by Nathaniel Massie; Josiah Wade and Matthew Hart, chain carriers; Thomas Massie, marker.

No. 1497 was entered by James McIlhaney and six others, August 21, 1787, number of acres, 800. Surveyed October 17, 1796, by William Lytle; John Donel and Peter Clawson, chain carriers; Thomas Paxton, marker.

No. 825 was entered by Lieut. Thomas Martin, August 23, 1787. Number of acres, 1,000. Surveyed by William Lytle, District Surveyor, October 17, 1796; John Donel and Peter Clawson, chain carriers; Thomas Paxton, marker.

Entry No. 1547—By Elisha King (assignee), August 24, 1787. Number of acres, 1,333⅓. Surveyed April 12, 1792; William Lytle, District Surveyor; Robert Campbell and Martin Varner, chain carriers; Henry Ball, marker.

Entry No. 1548—By Elisha King (assignee), August 24, 1787. Number of acres, 1,533⅓. Surveyed April 13, 1792; William Lytle, District Surveyor; Robert Campbell and Henry Ball, chain carriers; Martin Varner, marker.

Entry No. 1549—By Sackville King, August 24, 1787. Number of acres, 1,000. Surveyed April 14, 1792; William Lytle, District Surveyor; Robert Campbell and Henry Ball, chain carriers; Martin Varner, marker.

Entry No. 2192—By William Nall, May 26, 1792. Number of acres, 1,000. Surveyed April 15, 1793; William Lytle, District Surveyor; Robert Campbell and Henry Ball, chain carriers; Martin Varner, marker.

Entry No. 4239—By Francis Taylor, June 7, 1802. Number of acres, 700. Surveyed March 18, 1804; William Lytle, District Surveyor; John Donel and Thomas Paxton, chain carriers; Daniel Ertles, marker.

Entry No. 3791—No entry or survey on record.

The location and survey of these lands were attended with great hardships and much danger from the Indians, especially so during a period of some three or four years prior to 1794, as they had become, owing to a dispute about the conditions of some of their treaties, very hostile, and remained in a state of war up to their defeat by Gen. Wayne, August, 1794. The treaty of Greenville, July 30, 1795, brought an end to the Indian troubles in Ohio.

EARLY SETTLEMENTS.

Many Virginians having land warrants had, prior to this time, come down the Ohio to possess their lands, but the hostile attitude of the savages induced them to settle temporarily at Columbia, White's Station, and other points near Cincinnati. The treaty of Greenville, by giving assurance of permanent peace, opened the way for settlers, and emigrants came rapidly to the Miami country.

Probably the very first settlement in the county south of the Little Miami River was within the present bounds of Hamilton Township. Seemingly well authenticated tradition says that William Mounts and five other families settled on lands now owned by his grandson, William P. Mounts, in October, 1795, and built their cabins in a circle around a spring, a few rods west of where the residence now stands. It was then called Mounts' Station.

The names of the families thus early locating in the unbroken forests of Hamilton Township were, as remembered, William Mounts, wife and six children; Thomas Forsha, wife and children; Thomas Leonard, wife and six children; Thomas Watson and family.

These lands were purchased of Robert Todd, by William Mounts and Martin Varner.

The following is a copy of the obligation of purchase—omitting the description of two tracts not situated in the county, to wit:

> This shall oblige me, my heirs, etc., to convey by deed, with a general warrantee, to Martin Varner and William Mounts, as tenants in common, the quantity of 1,200 acres of land, on the Little Miami River, in three tracts—a tract of nine hundred acres—that lies about three miles and a half below Todd's Fork, of the L. M. R., which 900 acres is to contain a better bottom than any of the three next below O'Bannon's Creek. For the performance of this, my obligation, I do bind myself, my heirs, etc., to the said Martin Varner and William Mounts and their heirs, in the penal sum of five hundred pounds, lawful money of Pennsylvania. As witness my hand and seal, this day of October, 1791.

The extreme northern and extreme southern parts of the township were earliest settled, while the central part was not opened up until a later date. Their is some uncertainty as to the year in which the first settlement was made in the south, but there seems to be no doubt that the first settler in this section was Theophilus Simonton, who with his wife and two children, came from North Carolina and settled near the Clermont County line, and on the farm now owned by Dr. Donough. The time of Simonton's arrival at this place is fixed, by tradition, in the fall of 1796. At that time he had no neighbors within the present limits of the township: save those at the Mounts' settlement, and an unbroken forest of many miles lay between them. In 1797, Simonton was favored with a nearer neighbor, in the person of Joseph Hill; who settled about forty rods south of the Hill Graveyard, and near Clinton's farm. In the year 1799, Samuel Hill settled on the Gillispie farm, now owned by Henry Peachy. About the same time, Daniel Ertel located near the Little Miami river, where the family of Solomon Ertel now resides.

These probably were the only settlers in the southern part of the township prior to 1800. We have no reliable information of any settlers, except those already mentioned at Mounts' Station in the northern or southern part of the township, before the year 1800.

A full list of the names of later settlers—say down to 1810—would doubtless be of much interest, but, after a lapse of seventy years, only a few can be given.

In the fall of 1800, Philip and Benjamin Hill, of North Carolina, came to and settled in southern Hamilton, the latter where the old stone house now stands, a half mile east of Loveland, and near the Murdoch pike. The former settled a little further east, on what has been known as the old Phillip Hill farm. The cabin in which he first settled stood some twenty rods north of the present brick building, on the farm owned owned by Daniel Shields.

In 1802, Samuel B. Walker and Isaac Spence settled within the present limits of the township, but this was not Walker's first visit to the wilds of Ohio. Early in the spring of 1798, Walker, then about twenty years old, in company with John Mahard started from Londentown, Penn., and turning their faces westward traveled on foot to Pittsburgh, a distance of 150 miles. At that time there was no wagon road over the mountains of Western Pennsylvania, only a pathway traversed by pack horses; this trail they followed. On arriving at Pittsburgh they secured passage to Columbia on a flat-boat, agreeing to assist in the work as compensation for their passage. In due time, they landed at Cincinnati, and here they parted. Walker found his way out to Gen. Ludlow's place, and engaged in his service. He was possessed of a good practical education, including the theory and practice of surveying. This enabled him to be of great service to Ludlow, who took him with him, in the summer of 1798, on a surveying expedition up the Little Miami to Yellow Springs, thence across to and down the Big Miami, occupying some two months' time; after which he worked some six months on the farm of Gen. Ludlow. In March, 1799, Walker went up to Williamsburg in Clermont County, to make his home with William Hunter, whom he had known in Pennsylvania. Here he met Gen. W. Lytle, and was employed by him to assist in pointing out and subdividing various bodies of land (owned by Lytle) to suit purchasers. In this capacity he was through our township when there was not a solitary settlement between Deerfield and the extreme southern part. The writer copied the following from a small memorandum book in possession of T. D. Walker.

"Came to William Hunters on Friday, 29th of March, 1799. My horse was stolen by Indians on Wednesday night, the 22d of May, 1799; also Robert Dickey's stolen the same night." On the same book we found the following: "Robert Dickey's horse returned on Saturday, September, 1799." His own was returned at a later date. Walker, while living, related that these horses, with many others, were returned by the Indians, in response to a proclamation by the Territorial Governor offering a reward for the return of stolen horses.

Previous to this time his father, Samuel Walker, of Pennsylvania, had contracted with Gen. Lytle for eleven hundred acres of land, to be selected from a tract near Williamsburg, in Clermont County, or if these lands on view were not satisfactory, then was Walker to have his choice out of some three or four other tracts.

In the spring of 1799, the father came on to see the lands and to consummate the purchase. In company with his son, he met Gen. Lytle, at Squire Hunter's, and being dissatisfied with the tracts in Clermont County, he, after some hesitation, accepted a deed for eleven hundred acres, situated in southern Hamilton Township, and upon which his son Samuel B. Walker—as has been already stated—settled in 1802. The consideration named in the deed was $2 per acre.

This tract embraced farms now owned by A. J. Walker, Mrs. Foster, William Merrill, Mr. Kay, Ellon Walker, heirs of M. Ertel, Daniel Shields, James Swank, Mr. Skillman, Milton Spence, O. R. Reeves, T. D. Walker and some other smaller lots.

Soon after completing the land purchase, Mr. Walker, the father, went back to Pennsylvania. The son also went back some time in 1800, to return in 1802 and take up a permanent residence. The first cabin occupied by Walker stood some thirty rods northwest of Christian Stock's house. In 1804, he commenced the building of a hewed-log house, situated on lands now owned by Thomas D. Walker. This house was not finished until some years later, and still stands a landmark of early days.

In 1803, Colen Spence moved from Pennsylvania, and settled in the township, on the farm now owned by Mrs. Foster, near Bethel Graveyard.

William Spence and mother settled, in 1802 or 1803, near Cozaddale, on the farm now owned by Samuel Spence.

Isaac Clinton came from Kentucky and settled in the year 1807 on the farm now owned by John Clinton.

Alex. Hall, from Kentucky, settled, in the year 1807, where James Hall now lives.

William Newel came from Pennsylvania and settled in the year 1807 in the same neighborhood.

John Creamer came from Kentucky in 1805 and settled on the old Creamer farm, one mile north of Cozaddale.

Adam Snell came from Kentucky in 1805 and settled on the farm now owned by Capt. Wiley, near Cozaddale.

In about 1803 or 1804, Gabriel Morgan bought a tract of land, where Thomson Spence now owns, and moved into a cabin on it. In 1802, Francis Eltzroth, of Maryland, settled on the farm now owned by Benj. Eltzroth, near Camargo. In 1808 or 1809, Elijah Mounts came from New Jersey and settled near Camargo. Among the very early settlers we omitted to mention in the proper place, was William Burton, who came from North Carolina, and settled near the Phillip Hill farm, in the year 1802. In 1806, John Gilles settled near Salt Springs. In 1804, Abraham Haney came from Pennsylvania and settled in the northern part of the township, near Hopkinsville. In the same year (1804), James Hopkins came from Kentucky and settled on the old Hopkins' place a little south of the village. Judge Michael H. Johnson, at an early date, settled on the Grandin farm. Robert Shields came from Pennsylvania in 1810, and settled below Hopkinsville, and in 1811 moved into a cabin on the farm now owned by Mrs. William Ertel. The Bakers, Kibbys, Kellys, Rosses, Roats, Stevens, Ludlums, were also among the early settlers, and they and their posterity are closely identified with the affairs of the township. Many other names of early settlers deserve honorable mention, but want of information of details forbids the attempt.

GEOLOGICAL STRUCTURE.

The geological structure of Hamilton Township belongs almost entirely to the Cincinnati Group. The only exception to this is the alluvial land in the valley of the Little Miami River. The system of rocks denominated "The Cincinnati Group" is a formation of blue limestone, partially stratified, and has an aggregate thickness of nearly eight hundred feet. It was undoubtedly a ridge cast up at the close of the Lower Silurian age, and extended from near Nashville, Tenn., through Kentucky, and far into the State of Ohio. This great ridge separated depressed areas during the whole of the Upper Silurian, Devonian and Carboniferous ages. The Cincinnati group contains many of the characteristic fossils of the Hudson River group and the Trenton limestone of New York. The blue limestone floor of Hamilton Township is covered by a blue glacial clay. Above this clay lies an ocherous deposit of from four to seven feet in thickness. On this ocher rests a light vegetable mold of surface soil. The land is very productive when properly cultivated. Building stone of excellent quality is abundant. The township is well watered. The principal streams are the Conococheague Creek, (so named by Samuel B. Walker, a Government surveyor, who emigrated from the banks of the famous Conococheague Creek in Pennsylvania, in 1798, and located a large tract of land on this stream) Hen Run, Salt Run (so named on account of a salt lick and spring on its bank), Bear Run and Mounts' Run. These streams all abound in the remains of extinct life so characteristic of the Cincinnati group. The Lower Silurian brachiopods and Upper Silurian trilobites and ptilodictya are numerously found along the bed of the Conococheague Creek, on the farm of A. J. Walker. There is a hill just below the old saw-mill on Mr. Walker's farm that abounds in fine specimens of the Orthis plicatella, one of the most interesting forms of ancient life.

The bed and banks of Salt Run are strewn with specimens of the well-known Orthoceras and the Atrypa type of the the Devonian brachopods. Some beautiful specimens of the Orthis biforata have been found in Hen Run on the farm of Henry Burton, and along the Conococheague Creek below the Camargo Schoolhouse.

Striated rocks, those strange, mute witnesses of one of the stupendous glaciers that brought them from their Northern home and cast them out along its broad and icy path, are scattered all over this township.

Here, too, are strewn the stone implements and weapons—both nealithic and paleolithic—of the Mound Builders. Indeed a rude manufactory of those implements was discovered in the early part of this century, near the Conococheague Creek, on the farm of James Hall, Esq.

Their great highway of commerce and war, which extended from the old copper mines of Lake Superior, to Florida, ran through this township, and we believe is yet traceable on the farm of the late James Ford near Zoar.

TOPOGRAPHY.

The surface of the township, in the Southwest and North, is somewhat broken, but the hills are neither high nor precipitous, and most all the lands admit of easy cultivation. In the east and central part of the township, the land is more level, but sufficiently rolling to insure good drainage.

Numerous springs of excellent water abound in different parts of the township; water is obtained by digging to the depth of from twelve to forty feet.

At the time white settlers first appeared, the land was covered with a heavy growth of timber, consisting of oak, hickory, walnut, ash, maple, sugar, elm and other varieties of small growth.

ROADS.

The Cincinnati, Montgomery & Hopkinsville pike, passing through the Northern part of the township via Hopkinsville and Zoar, was graded in the year 1835, and was the first pike built in the township. The township is traversed by three gravel roads, constructed under the "Free Pike" law. The Maineville & Foster's Crossing road, extending from the latter place to the eastern line of the township, the Murdoch pike, extending from Loveland, via Murdoch, to a point one mile east of Murdoch, and the Foster's Crossing and Loveland road connecting those two points.

SCHOOLS.

The early pioneers of this section were generally men of sterling character, who endured the dangers and trials of a new country, not solely for their own sakes, but for their children, and notwithstanding the settlements were sparse, and the people, as the pioneers of all new countries are, were poor and lacked the means of paying teachers and procuring books, yet we find that at a very early date in the settlement, schoolhouses were built and schools opened in various neighborhoods as occasion made necessary. The houses were not built by subscription in money, but by contributions of labor. On a given day the neighbors assembled at some place previously agreed upon, and with their axes cut the necessary logs and then raised the walls. The roof was made of clapboards, kept in place by heavy poles reaching the length of the house. The door made of clapboards, was hung on wooden hinges; the latch of wood, and raised by a string. The floor was of trees, split, with the face and edge dressed with the ax. The crevices between the logs were filled with chinks and daubed with mud. The fire-place was of huge dimensions, built on the outside of the house, usually of stone to the throat of the flue, and the remainder of the chimney of split sticks of wood, daubed with clay. The windows consisted of an opening, made by cutting out one of the logs for almost the entire width of the building. In the winter, this opening was covered with paper saturated with grease, to keep out the cold as well as to admit the light. The furniture corresponded with the house. The writing desk was constructed by boring auger holes in one of the logs below the window, and in these strong wooden pins were driven, on which a wooden slab was placed, which served as a writing desk for the whole school. The seats were hewed slabs supported by wooden pins or legs. These seats had no support for the back. These were indeed rude structures, but the wonder is not that they did not build better houses, and have better facilities for learning, but that they, laboring under so many disadvantages, had any schools whatever. Those who can remember back for a period of fifty or more years will recognize this general description as applicable to all school buildings in the township. From the best available information, the writer concludes that the first of these rude structures built in the township, was located on the present site of Bethel Graveyard. The exact year when this house was built cannot be given, but there seems to be no doubt that it was as early as 1804. James Coghlan was the first teacher. Alexander Hall, Samuel Gillispie, Samuel B. Walker and John Hill were among the early teachers. After some years, a new log schoolhouse was erected a short distance south of the old one, and in turn this was replaced by a stone structure, situated a little further south and near the Run. In 1850, the old stone building gave place to a more modern brick one, and the site was changed to the south side of the Run and on top of the hill. This served its time and was replaced by the present house. Another of these early educational landmarks was located on the southwestern part of the township and a half-mile west of the Hill Graveyard. Some years later, this was replaced by a larger and more tasty log house, the logs being hewed, windows with glass lights, etc. The early teachers, as remembered, were John Clinton, Alexander Hall, Benjamin Tufts,

BENJ. LUDLAM

James Clinton, Margaret Coddington and Elizabeth Gaskin. In 1840, a brick house was completed and the log building was for many years thereafter used for a meeting house. The new building was known as the Butterworth Schoolhouse. It was situated a mile or more north of the old one, and on a lot obtained from Mormon Butterworth. This house was in turn replaced by the present one, situated three-fourths of a mile west, and on the banks of the same creek, near Robert Smith's farm. About the year 1818, a rude stone school building was erected at Zoar, in the northern part of the township. This was, if not the first building for school purposes in that part of the township, among the first. About 1849, it was replaced by a brick building, located a few feet east of the present Zoar Church; and again this building gave way to the present one, which was built about the year 1870. The early teachers at Zoar were Joseph Patton, Benjamin Ludlum and Joseph Keever. Dr. Mounts taught at a later date. Many of the boys who went to school to Jo. Keever, doubtless still have a vivid recollection of him, as it is said he had the peculiar faculty of leaving a lasting impression on the mind, of those who were so unfortunate as to incur his displeasure in the schoolroom.

As early as 1812, there was a school taught at Hopkinsville, the house was a log one standing some few rods north of the present building.

In a like manner, these rude seminaries of learning were planted throughout the township to be replaced in time by better ones.

The township at present is divided into eight subdistricts and three special ones, provided with neat, comfortable buildings and modern furniture.

The following contract, copied from the original, is appended to show the remuneration teachers received for their services in early times:

> ARTICLES OF AN AGREEMENT, made and entered into by and between Samuel B. Walker, of Warren County, and State of Ohio, of the one part, and the underwritten subscribers of the county and State aforesaid, of the other part. Witnesseth, that the said Samuel B. Walker, doth agree to teach such children as may be placed under his tuition, reading, writing and arithmetic, according to their respective capacities, for the term of three months to come, as soon as twenty-four scholars are subscribed for, and a house prepared suitable for the business. The underwritten subscribers do, for their part, agree to fix a house fit for teaching in, and each subscriber to furnish a sufficient quantity of firewood, in proportion to the number of scholars annexed to their names, and to pay unto the said Samuel B. Walker, at the expiration of said term, the sum of one and one half dollars per scholar, one-third to be paid in cash, and two-thirds in either wheat, rye, corn, oats, sugar, flax, linen or wool, at the market price.

MAINEVILLE ACADEMY.

A history of this academy would doubtless be of interest to many, but the writer is not in possession of the early records, and cannot enter into details. The enterprise was undertaken by a joint-stock company, and was incorporated in the spring of 1847. The building, a two-story brick, was completed and ready for use in 1849. Owing to financial embarrassments, there was a re-organization in 1857. The organization continued with varied success until the year 1874, when the property was transferred to the Maineville Special School District, since which time the building has been used for a public graded school. The names of the teachers in the academy, as remembered, are as follows: Prof. John W. F. Foster, Prof. C. W. Kimball, N. F. Cotton, Robert Milliken, Frank Tufts, Rev. I. J. Cushman, Charles Drake, Rev. J. H. Wilson and Dean Babbitt.

This academy, like most other similar institutions, was crowded out of existence by an advanced system of public school instruction, but it did much to inculcate an educational spirit in the township.

We give below Hamilton Township's contribution (so far as we can learn) to the leading professions, most of whom are, in part, indebted to the old Maineville Academy for the basis of a solid education: Hon. Benjamin Butterworth, Cincinnati, lawyer, and Member of Congress from First Ohio District; Horace Clinton, lawyer, Loveland, Ohio; Smith Ford, editor, Kansas City, Mo.; William F. Eltzroth, lawyer, Lebanon, Ohio.; Rev. L. F. Walker, Presbyterian minister, College Hill, Ohio; Dr. Lucius W. Bishop, physician, Loveland, Ohio; Erwin D. Walker, Presbyterian minister, Peabody, Kan.; Jerome Hill, lawyer, Austin, Texas; J. Quincy Spence (deceased), lawyer; Frank Dyer, Principal Loveland Schools; Isaac N. Walker, lawyer, Lebanon, Ohio; Frank Leever, Methodist minister, New Paris, Ohio; Collins Leever, physician, Defiance, Ohio; T. P. Breeding, lawyer, Batavia, Ohio.

To this list may be added the following names of those who were pupils in the school, but non-residents of the township: Josiah Morrow, lawyer, Lebanon; George E. Morrow, professor in Illinois Industrial University; Lucien Clark, Methodist minister.

There are many others, doubtless, whose names deserve mention in this connection, but the writer only has his memory to draw from, and cannot recall others.

EARLY MANUFACTURES.

Among the many inconveniences to which the early settlers were subjected, perhaps none were more keenly felt than the want of grist and saw mills. The very earliest settlers had to go to Columbia to mill, packing their grist of corn meal on horseback, by paths through the forest. Families were often out of meal, and compelled to live for days on hominy. A little later, a man named Waldsmith erected a mill at Indian Riffle, near Camp Dennison. This mill was constructed on some kind of a flat-boat, anchored out in the river, the current of the river supplying the motive power. It ground corn only. This shortened the distance measurably, and was, no doubt, hailed with joy. In the year 1806, Piercy Kitchel built a flouring-mill on the west bank of the Little Miami River, where Greely's mill now stands. This was making rapid progress in the right direction, and since then mills have been erected at other points on the west bank of the Miami, convenient of access to the people of Hamilton Township, although there are none at present within the limits of the township.

The first saw-mill in the township was built by Theophilus Simonton, the neighbors contributing largely in its completion by volunteer labor in digging the trench some three-fourths of a mile that conveyed the water from the main stream to the mill. This mill was built about the year 1812, and located on the creek near where Simonton first settled. This stream was named Conococheague Creek by the early settlers from Pennsylvania. At a later date, Samuel B. Walker's sons built a saw-mill on the same stream, on the farm now owned by ~~A. J.~~ Walker. These mills were what might be termed wet-weather mills, as it was only during comparatively wet times that there was sufficient water to furnish the necessary motive power, and were, under the most favorable circumstances, of very limited capacity; yet to these early settlers they were a great convenience. Since then many other mills, mostly steam, have been located at different points throughout the township until the greater part of the saw timber has been converted into lumber. In the early times, and indeed, for many years, salt was an expensive article, and was with much difficulty obtained. Farmers would frequently combine together and load a wagon with corn, take it to Cincinnati, and return with a barrel of salt, the proceeds of the load of corn. About the year 1803 or 1804, one Peter Wilson, having discovered that certain springs, some half mile south of the present site of Maineville, possessed, in some degree, a saline quality, and being furnished with some capital by Gen. Lytle, undertook the manufacture of this article of household necessity. He sunk some three or four wells to a considerable depth, built a furnace, and placed in it a number of kettles, and proceeded to collect the water and boil it down; but the water proving too weak to make the enterprise a paying one, Wilson soon abandoned it. The furnace and kettles, however, remained for a number of years, and neighboring farmers for quite a distance would frequently camp there and boil down the water from the wells, and in this way procure small quantities of salt for their own use.

The manufacture of whisky was not wholly neglected by the early inhabitants. Simonton, who was the pioneer in saw-mills, was also the pioneer in distilling whisky. At an early date he erected a small copper still, just west of where Dr. Donough's house now stands, and commenced the manufacture of whisky, ~~and this he continued for some years.~~ The capacity of the still was from sixteen to eighteen gallons per day. He also put up a small corn-cracker to grind corn for the use of the still.

The drinking of whisky was almost a universal habit in those days, and Simonton's still-house was the scene of many a wild gathering, the neighbors meeting there to talk over the events of the times and enjoy a social drink together. About the same time, a man named Cunningham erected a small distillery near where Thompson Spence now lives, but did not continue long.

At a much later date, Vandervort's flouring-mill, at Foster's Crossings, was converted into a distillery, and turned out, from time to time, considerable quantities of whisky.

We will now turn to what must have been a much more profitable branch of early manufacturing, and this was the manufacture of shoe leather. A tannery was opened for business about the year 1835. This tannery was located one-half mile north of Murdoch, on the farm now owned by F. Bateman. The farm was at that time owned by Jonathan Hopkinson, who built the tannery and conducted the business. The manufacture of leather proved a valuable addition to the neighborhood. Hides of cattle were tanned on the shares, one-half for tanning, and thus the farmers were enabled to supply their families with winter shoes at a small expenditure of money. Mr. Hopkinson and son continued the business for a number of years; but the establishment finally succumbed to the inevitable fate in store for all country tan-yards.

EARLY GRAVEYARDS.

The early settlers, in many instances, interred their dead on their farms; yet there are throughout the township a number of graveyards of a very early date. The one known as Hill's Graveyard, on the hill near the Clermont County line, was used for this purpose as early as 1800, in which year there was buried J. Hill, as shown by the rude headstone. The first interment at Bethel Graveyard was that of Annie Spence, in the year 1806. The Hopkinsville Burying Ground owes its origin to the following incident: At an early date, a body (the name not remembered) was being taken to Deerfield for burial, and when the funeral train reached the river they found it too high to ford. They returned to Hopkinsville, and, after much persuasion, obtained permission from Col. John Hopkins to bury the body on the site of the present burying grounds.

MIRANDA

There are other old graveyards in the township, notably the one east of Zoar, at the foot of the hill, but the writer cannot give names of first burials.

The Maineville Burying Ground is of later origin. The following, copied from an inscription on a stone, probably marks about the time of its establishment as a resting-place for the dead: "Sacred to the memory of Peter Dudley, who departed this life October 22, 1819."

EARLY REMINISCENCES—MISCELLANEOUS.

The following, copied from the original receipts, will show the rate of early taxes. Walker then paid taxes on 1,100 acres of land:

Received of Saml B. Walker sixty cents, it being in full of his County tax for the year 1805.

JAMES MIRANDA.

Received of Saml B. Walker the sum of Two dollars and twenty-six cents, being in full of his State tax for the year 1805. I say received by me.

[Signed] DANIEL COYLOT.

The following is a "verbatim" copy of a rather remarkable document found among the papers of the late Samuel B. Walker, viz.:

Resolution of the Grand Jury for them to meet at the time of adjournment or otherwise to be obliged to pay one-half pint of whisky viz. to come in proper order to do business and not to be intoxicated, otherwise they shall be obliged to pay four half pints of whisky.

February Term 1811.

Resolution of the Grand Jury of Warren County.

Resolved that they will meet according to the time they appointed to meet according to adjournment, or if not, to be obliged to pay one-half pint of whisky, each one who does not meet against the time agreed upon, ~~and if~~ any person, who is a Juror as aforesaid shall attend intoxicated, he shall be entitled to pay the sum of fifty cents. Also we resolve that all drink that is brought in for the use of us the Jurors aforesaid shall be equally divided, or in other words each Juror pay his part of the same. And we do agree to adjourn to ten o'clock to-morrow. Absent Jacob Barker and Joseph Mounts. Resolved also that we will appoint John Craft a moderater during the time the Jury sit.

Among the early records of the township we find the following:

Taken up, by John Gillis, a black heifer rising two years old. Appraised to $2.75 by Robt Shields and Hugh McCullough—Dec 22d 1814.

Taken up by John Cramer a sorrel horse Colt supposed to be one year old past. Appraised to $7.00 by Thos Spence and Jacob Morgan. Jany 27th 1816.

Taken up by Saml W. Spence six stray Sheep. Appraised to $4.50, by Saml B Walker and George Shields—Dec 4th 1829.

The following, copied from the original, will show the form of marriage license sixty years ago:

THE STATE OF OHIO, }
Warren County, } ss.

License is hereby granted unto Samuel Anderson and Judith Clinton to be joined in marriage agreeable to the law of the State of Ohio, entitled "An act regulating marriages." Therefore, any Justice of the Peace, or Minister of the gospel legally authorized, may join the said Samuel Anderson and Judith Clinton in marriage, agreeable to said law, provided always that there is no legal objection.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of the Court of Common Pleas at Lebanon, the 24th day of April, in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and twenty.

POLITICS.

The political complexion of the township, has been for many years largely Republican. The vote at the Presidential election of 1880 was as follows: Garfield, 401; Hancock, 202. In the year 1828, the township gave a Democratic majority, Andrew Jackson having a majority of about 60, out of a vote of less than 300; he also carried the township, by a reduced majority, in 1832.

JUSTICES OF THE PEACE.

Only a partial list of Hamilton's Justices can be given, as the records are mostly lost. Among the earliest were Michael H. Johnson, John Bowen, James Miranda, Theophilus Simonton, Samuel B. Walker, James Hill, Thomas Dickey, Col. John Hopkins, and later Esq. Munger, David Morgan, Calvin Kitchel, H. C. Dwinel, Daniel H. Shields, Clarkson Butterworth, William H. Cummins, Milton Monce and Peter Doughman. The presents incumbents are Wm. C. McCammon and J. C. Redman, the latter having served since 1865.

WAR OF 1812.

In this contest Hamilton took an active part. She furnished two companies—the one a light-horse company, commanded by Col. John Hopkins, the other a rifle company, commanded by Theophilus Simonton. The writer has not been able to learn the names of any members of the first named company. The latter while making ready to take the field, had its headquarters at Hopkinsville, Theophilus Simonton was chosen Captain. The company was composed of about forty men. The writer has been able to gather from tradition and records the following names of members of the company. The list so far as it extends is thought to be reliable. Theophilus Simonton, Captain: Alex Simonton, William Spence, William Hopkins, Samuel Anderson, Arnold Snyder, Henry Snell, Samuel B. Walker, Robert Shields, Thomas Wallace, John Wallace, Alex Brannon, John Brannon, Ludwick Thompson, James Johnson, Alex Bigham, Theophilus Wasson, Alexander Work, Abraham Haney, William Coburn, David Simonton, Valentine Ertle, James Hill, Hugh McCullough, John Vandervort, Jonas Vandervort and John Gillis. David Shields, Colen Spence and Archibald Clinton were also out in the service, but probably not in this company. Simonton's company was at the siege of Fort Meigs and underwent many hardships. The following extract from an original letter, now in existence, will serve to show the spirit that animated those heroes:

> FORT MEIGS, FOOT OF THE RAPIDS OF THE MIAMI OF THE LAKE,
> Monday, the 28th June, 1813.
> DEAR WIFE: * * * * * We have been preparing to receive another visit from the enemy this while past, but it is the opinion of a good many they never will have the effrontery to show their infernal faces at Fort Meigs again: if they do, they will have cause to rue it, as our forces will be strong enough to give them a complete drubbing. Eight hundred mounted men from Kentucky arrived here last night. Our beloved and worthy General Harrison left here the 12th of last month and I have not seen him since, but he is expected here this evening with a number of regular troops. * * * * *

> SAMUEL B. WALKER.

MEXICAN WAR.

There can be but little said of the part the township took in this war. The names of the following are remembered as volunteering their services:

Henry Smith, Washington Cline.

THE WAR OF THE REBELLION.

The writer regrets exceedingly his inability to give a full and complete list of those who went from the township into this conflict, but can only give the names as obtained from memory, which must necessarily furnish only an incomplete list.

Company —, Second Ohio Volunteer Infantry—Captain, James E. Murdoch. Members—J. C. Burns, Charles Chaney, Henry Dunham, Henry Geise, Frank Hopkinson, Henry Roat, Henry Smith, William Semon, John Spence, Erwin Swank, John Walker, Gaines Walker, Robert Shields, Pliny Cottle, Dudly Mulford, John Snook, Jesse Hines, William Legg. The following were in the service, but their companies cannot be given: John Atkinson, William Atkinson, Samuel Atkinson, Mike Doughman, Felty Doughman, David Doughman, Henry Graham, Martin Graham, John Graham, Mont Henry, Thompson Spence, Albert Boyd, William Girton, James Pollock, John Powers, Stanly Day, David Day, Luther Walker, Mitchel Shields, W. H. Haney, Samuel A. Haney, George Ertle, David Ertle, John Hitesman, Thomas C. Legg, Thomas Seaman, Verney Seaman, Henry Temme, Thomas Wilkinson, J. A. Hopkinson, John Clark, Levi Shoemaker.

POST OFFICES.

The first post office in the township was at Hopkinsville, established in 1825, and afterward post offices were established in the following order viz.: Dallasburg, 1848, Maineville, 1854; Foster's Crossing, 1859; Murdoch, 1866, and Cozaddale, 1871. The very earliest settlers received their mail probably at Lebanon. The following, copied from the address on the back of an early letter, will show how indefinite the directions:

Mr. Samuel Walker,
living in Warren County,
State of Ohio:
Near the Little Miami.

This letter was written in 1805. It will be seen that Southern Hamilton was without an office until 1848, but the postal facilities were not so bad as this would indicate, as there was a post office at O'Banionville in Clermont county, near the Warren line at quite an early date, affording the advantage of a weekly mail to this section. The above offices are, with the exception of Dallasburg, in operation yet, each having a daily mail.

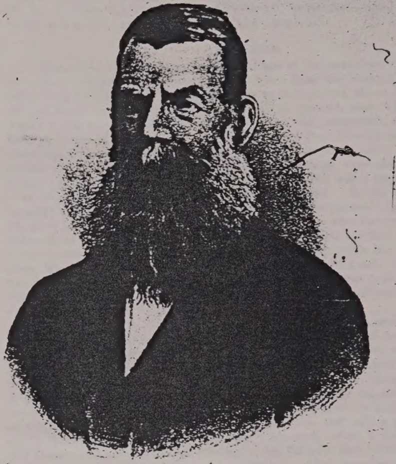
VILLAGES OF THE TOWNSHIP.

Hopkinsville, situated on the Montgomery & Hopkinsville pike, is the oldest village in the township, dating back to about 1808. In its early days, it was the center of trade for the whole township, and enjoyed a good degree of prosperity. It was also for a long time the legal place for holding township elections, and headquarters for general musters and all public gatherings; but in course of time new places sprung up and trade was diverted into other channels. The village now contains one store, a blacksmith shop, shoe shop, schoolhouse and church. At one time, it contained three stores and three taverns. Col. John Hopkins, Matthias Rapp and Boss Erwin were the merchants.

Zoar—This place was also settled at an early day, but the year cannot now with certainty be given. It at one time gave promise of being quite a manufacturing place. About the years 1844 to 1847, there were two blacksmith shops and two wagon-makers' shops located here, working some eight to ten hands. Ferdinand Dugan was one of the proprietors and enjoyed quite a large Southern trade in plows and wagons. He also manufactured wagons for service in the Mexican war. A wheelwright shop, by Matthew McNeely, was also at this time, in full operation. But this prosperity was destined to be only transitory. The building of railroads and establishment of large manufactories changed all this, and the streets of Zoar became long ago deserted and the sound of the hammer is no longer heard within her borders.

Cozaddale, situated on the Marietta Railroad in the extreme southern part of the township, was laid out by John J. Cozad in the year 1871.

Mr. Cozad spent money very liberally in putting up buildings and improving the place, hoping to make a permanent manufacturing town, but his hopes were not fully realized, as evidenced by the many tenantless houses. There are now in the village two stores and one shoe shop.



Wm. Jackson

Murdoch, situated on the Murdoch pike, in the midst of a well improved and finely cultivated farming district, owes its importance mostly to the fact of its being for a long time the home of Prof. James E. Murdoch, from whom it derived its name. The following comprise the extent of the village, to wit: Cottage of Prof. Murdoch, now occupied by the writer of this sketch; the residence of John Spence, Sr.; the residence of Ellen Walker, widow of the late W. H. Walker; the Presbyterian Church and parsonage; store by Alexander Robb, and a neat, pretty schoolhouse just completed.

MAINEVILLE.

Maineville, the only incorporated village in the township, is situated near its center. The first permanent settlers were from the State of Maine, and it dates back to the year 1815; but previous to that period, about 1802, one John Wilson cleared off quite a good-sized patch of ground near where Benjamin Tuft's house now stands. Wilson also, about the same time, cleared a small field just west of William Burton's house. In a short time he abandoned these clearings and a dense growth of hickory and other forest trees grew up, and, by the time permanent settlers came, these clearings were almost an impenetrable thicket. The first house built in Maineville was a log one, and stood near where H. L. Clinton's residence is now located. It was built by a man named Carr. Carr was a blacksmith, and carried on his trade in this building. He gave his attention mostly to making axes. Carr's axes became quite famous throughout the settlement. As we have already stated, the first permanent settlement was in 1815. In that year, Moses Dudley, with his family, moved from Maine and settled where Capt. Whitten afterward lived. He owned some two hundred acres of land on the south side of the present pike. Dudley built the first frame house in the village. He died in 1842, and was buried in the cemetery east of the village.

Dr. John Cottle came from Maine in the year 1818, and settled where Mrs. Smitzer now lives. The Doctor was the first graduate of a medical college to practice in the township. Some idea of the extent of his practice may be gathered from the fact that at an early day his nearest competitor on the west was Dr. Noble, at Sycamore Creek, and on the north Dr. Montague, at Deerfield, and on the south none nearer than Goshen; while, on the east, he rode beyond Clarksville and Wilmington, and for a long time he kept an extra horse at Clarksville for use in that section. Cottle was not only a good physician, but a skillful surgeon. The writer remembers well, when a small boy, of the old Doctor and his son Lucius coming to his father's and removing, with the knife, a cancer from the breast of his mother. The operation was a complete success, as it never afterward gave her any trouble. Cottle built the first brick house in Maineville, and probably the first in the township. This was in 1821. The house still remains in good preservation, and is owned, and, as before stated, occupied by Mrs. Smitzer. In 1822, Elder Benjamin Tufts, with his family, moved from Maine, and settled where Benjamin Tufts now lives. These were but the forerunners of many other immigrants from that far-distant Eastern State. The village was for a long time called Yankeetown, but was afterward changed to Maineville. Among the early industries was a wagon-maker's shop, Josiah Greely and Robert Blackstone proprietors. There was also at one time a foundry located here, at which engines and many other articles were turned out, but after some time the shops were closed, the cost of shipping ore, etc., being too great.

The village was incorporated in the year 1850. The first election for village officers was held April 25, 1850, and resulted in the election of Silas Dudley for Mayor.

The following is the succession of Mayors: Silas Dudley, O. M. Kilburn, O. O. Morrill, J. W. Perryman, H. Eastman, T. D. Gilman, J. C. Redman, D. Babbit, Charles Ford and P. D. Cottle.

The year 1850 will be remembered by many as being the cholera year, and this village, seemingly protected by its isolation from the large cities, was nevertheless destined to undergo the devastation and horrors of that fearful plague of the Orient in all its intensity. Death reigned in almost every house; terror seized hold upon the stoutest hearts, and it was with difficulty that the dead were buried. Many of the best citizens were its victims. In a radius of two miles more than fifty persons died in a short space of time. Among the business men who died were Nathan Butterworth and Sherman Knowlton, merchants.

In this year, Col. James Ford came from Maine and settled here, succeeding Butterworth & Knowlton in the mercantile business. Col. Ford proved himself to be a public-spirited and enterprising citizen, possessed of excellent business capacities. He carried on the merchandising business with marked success up to the time of his death, which occurred in the spring of 1865. At the time of the Colonel's arrival, and for some time afterward, the citizens of Maineville were making strenuous efforts to induce the Government to establish a post office in the village, but without success. Finally Ford took hold of the matter, and having a personal acquaintance with some of the leading officials at Washington, succeeded in bringing about the desired result, and a post office was established in 1854, Ford receiving the appointment of Postmaster, a position which he continued to hold, notwithstanding the administrative changes, until his death. In this connection it will not be invidious to mention the name of Sullivan Stevens, although still living. Stevens has been closely identified with the commercial interests of the place for nearly a third of a century. During these long years of business relations with the people, he has never failed to command their entire confidence and esteem.

THE CHURCHES.

The forms of religion that prevailed largely among the early settlers, were Presbyterian and Methodist. The former had its center in the southern part of the township, among the settlers from Pennsylvania. The latter had two strongholds within the township, one at Zoar, and the other in the Hill settlement, in the southwestern part of the township.

CHURCH AT ZOAR.

This was the pioneer Methodist organization in the township. The Mountses and Ludlums were prominent among the early, active and influential members. The first church building was a log one, and stood on the same spot where the present one now stands, and was built about the year 1820. Previous to this time, class-meetings were held at private houses, and the Methodists and Presbyterians united in occasional services at Mounts' Station. The church continued to enjoy a good degree of prosperity, and in 1837 the log building was replaced by the present one. In the winter of 1843–44, a most remarkable revival took place in this church. The meetings were under the ministration of Rev. Smith and Fife, two ministers possessing unrivaled powers as revivalists. The religious excitement attending these meetings, was very great and more than two hundred were converted. This period marked the time of the church's greatest prosperity at Zoar. The establishment of an organization at Maineville, a few years later, gradually drew the interest in that direction, and the members are now comparatively few.

I have already stated that the Methodists had, at an early day, another stronghold in the township, in the Hill neighborhood. At a very early date, several families of Hills—all relatives—settled in this locality. They were earnest and active Methodists, and noted for their wonderful powers of spiritual song. They proceeded at once to organize class meetings, going from house to house, and engaging in exhortation, song and praise to God. Some years later, this point became a regular preaching place on the Circuit, and for many years the old log schoolhouse, a few hundred yards west of the Hill Graveyard, was used for public worship. The walls of this primitive building often resounded to the fiery eloquence and pleadings of many of the grand old preachers of early days; many were the revivals that took place within its portals; many weary and troubled souls found rest and quiet around its rude alters; but time has wrought great changes. The old building long since (1854) yielded to the force of the storm king, and the material of which it was built, became scattered far and wide. The congregations that were wont to assemble there have, too, like the building, yielded to the process of disintegration; some have moved away, some have sought other places to worship, while many, very many, have crossed the river, we trust, to enter into that House not made with hands, eternal in the Heavens; whose builder and maker is God.

MAINEVILLE METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

The first regular church organization of the Methodists at this place was in 1842, the Dudleys and Tufts, taking a prominent part in the movement. Previous to this time, they had class-meetings and religious gatherings at private houses, and occasional preaching. At the time of the organization, they had no church building, but the Baptist brethren kindly allowed them the use of their house until they could erect one of their own. The new organization at once enjoyed a season of great prosperity. Revival meetings were held under the leadership of Smith, Fife and others, and large accessions were made to the church. In 1844, they erected a commodious brick building of their own. The church has continued with varied success to the present time. It is the only Methodist organization, with the exception of Zoar, in the township. The total number of members now is about one hundred. The Rev. Baughman, Rev. Bishop Soule, Rev. George Maley and Rev. James B. Finley preached here at different times. This society supports a flourishing Sabbath school.

MAINEVILLE FREE-WILL BAPTIST CHURCH.

This church was organized by Elder Moses Dudley, Henry Greely and others as early as 1822 or 1823. It was called Salt Spring Church. For a number of years they worshiped in a schoolhouse east of Maineville, and not far from the Maineville Graveyard. About 1830, they built the present brick building. For a number of years this society enjoyed a good degree of success; but of late years, the membership has from various causes diminished. However, it still supports a regular minister, and a good class of Sabbath school scholars, and is in a quiet way doing much good.

Elder Moses Dudley was the first pastor of this church. Among those who preached from the pulpit in early times may be mentioned the names of Marcus Kilburn, Black Isaac, Richard Simonton and John Dudley, the latter a New Light.

UNITED PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, HOPKINSVILLE.

Information concerning the early organization and progress of this church, is of a very meager character, owing to the fact that the minute-book was lost by burning some few years ago. The society was organized as a branch of the Sycamore Associate Reformed Church, on the west side of the Little Miami. Rev. David McDill is believed to have been the first preacher; he probably preached at Hopkinsville occasionally, as early as 1820. The church was organized soon after this. About 1827, William Hopkins was elected a Ruling Elder. The ministers who have served the congregation are as follows: Rev. John Graham, Rev. Peter Monfort, Rev. Henry Allen, Rev. Robert K. Campbell from 1856 to 1866, Rev. H. Y. Leiper 1868 to 1869, Rev. James H. Elliot 1870 to 1880. Rev. S. A. Buck is the present pastor. The present number of members is about twenty-six. A good and efficient Sabbath school has been kept up for many years.

BETHEL PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

This was the first religious organization in the township, and the varied relations of this church to the people in general have been so widespread and long continued, and its influence in giving character to society so potent for good, that its history is so interwoven with the history of the township, as to be inseparable. In view of these well-known facts, the writer feels that in giving a somewhat detailed history of the church, no apology is due.

About the close of the last century, Samuel Walker, of Franklin County, Penn., purchased (as already stated in the account of the early settlement of the township) a large tract of land in the southern part of the township, upon which, not long after, four of his children, viz., Esther Spence, Margaret Spence, Samuel Walker and Sarah Martin, settled for the purpose of making homes for themselves and their children. These families brought with them the seeds of Presbyterianism, which, with many discouragements, prayers and self-denials, they planted in the wilds of what was then known as the Miami country.

These, in connection with a few other families, formed the nucleus out of which was organized the Bethel Church. These fathers and mothers underwent many hardships in their efforts to give to their children the religious institutions which they now enjoy, but they met their trials with patience and courage, toiled in hope, prayed in faith, and their labors were blessed. The church was not organized for about twelve years after the first settlement of these pioneer families. During this time, they enjoyed occasional preaching by several faithful ministers. The Rev. Robert B. Dobbins, a member of the Presbytery of Washington, which was then a part of the Synod of Kentucky, and located chiefly between the Scioto and the Miamis, visited the Bethel neighborhood about twice a year, preaching and administering the ordinance of baptism to the children of such as held certificates of standing in the churches from which they had removed. Other ministers also occasionally preached in the neighborhood, both before and after the organization of the church, among whom may be mentioned: Revs. Nicholas Petinger, Father Boyd, Crothers, Monfort, Reuben Frame, James and William Dickey. At last the long desired time arrived when a church was to be organized, and this little band were to be gathered in closer union, and strengthened by the bands of outward ecclesiastical organization.

On the 9th day of September, 1814, the Rev. Robert B. Dobbins preached, and after the sermon proceeded to organize the church in the usual way. The minutes, which record the matter, read thus: "The congregation of Bethel (after sermon) proceeded to the election of Ruling Elders. The votes were cast up, and it appeared that Colen Spence and Robert Shields were duly elected." On the next day these two brethren were solemnly set apart to the office to which they had been chosen by the congregation, and immediately thereafter held a meeting at which ten persons were received into the church—Rev. R. B. Dobbins, Moderator—eight upon certificate, and two upon examination. Their names are as follows: Isaac Spence and Esther his wife, Martha Shields, Margaret Spence, James Anderson and Martha his wife, William Wasson and Agnes his wife; and on examination, William Spence and Rebecca his wife. This little band constituted Bethel Church at its organization sixty-seven years ago. These brethren who were elected to the eldership served the church faithfully during the remainder of their lives, often riding on horseback forty and fifty miles to attend the meeting of Presbytery.

The little church for several years had no house of worship, but held their meetings, in the winter season, in a log schoolhouse near the present Bethel Graveyard, and in the summer season in the groves. To them, the groves were indeed God's first temples. It might be pleasant to linger among these memories of the past, and notice every feature in the growth of the church, but space will not admit of it. We pass over several years, burdened, doubtless, with many trials of faith, and come to the year 1823. This year marked an epoch in the history of the church. In this year, it was determined to erect a house in which to worship God. It was not a costly structure, but answered its end, and was adapted if not to the wants, at least to the circumstances of those concerned. It was built of logs, hewn from the forests in the immediate vicinity. The seats were made mostly of puncheons, and of course without any backs. In the center of the room was a capacious hearth, but no chimney; none was needed, for on the hearth was built a fire of charcoal, which made no smoke, and the materials of which could also be drawn from the near forest. The building stood near where the parsonage now stands. The church continued to grow in numbers each year marking new accessions.

The people worshiped in this house till the year 1839. Up to this time the minutes of the session record a great number of judicial cases. This is owing largely, no doubt, to the condition and habits of society at that time. The most frequent charge is "the too free use of spirituous liquors." In these early days the baleful influence of intemperance was felt in every relation of life, not only in the evils of intoxication, but in the kindred evils which always accompany it. It is not to be wondered at that the church session experienced great difficulties in this direction, when we reflect that whisky was a principal guest at every gathering, and had a place upon every side-board. But happily, as the preaching of the word and the means of grace increased, we find the evils of intemperance abating from the church. On the Sabbath when there was no preaching, religious services were held under direction of the session, which were called Society meetings, at which some one was appointed to read a sermon from some approved author, prayers were made and hymns sung. Thus the little band struggled along through the darkness and discourage-ments incidental to all churches at an early day. Goshen was also a preaching place in connection with Bethel Church, and continued this relation until 1833, when a petition was presented asking for the organization of a church in that place. The records show that at this time the session was composed of the following members: Rev. S. G. Gaines, Moderator, Z. Owen, J. Oliver, R. B. McKinnie, T. Dickey, S. W. Spence, Geo. Shields, Rob't Shields, Wm. Thacker, J. B. Spence and Benjamin Erwin. The session met May 30th, 1833, at which quite a number received their certificates with a view of uniting with the Goshen organization, and the little church of Bethel, never too strong, became two bands. This church was not discouraged, however, and in the year 1839 undertook the work of building a new house of worship of more substantial character and better adapted to their wants. The log building was 24x36 feet, the one proposed was to be of brick, 40x50 feet, and was in due time completed. We copy from the report of the the treasurer the names of those contributing to the building fund, varying in amount from $1 to $85. James Walker, George Shields, Benj. Erwin, R. Dobbin Shields, William Schuyler, Samuel B. Walker, John Shields, Samuel W. Spence, John McClave, William Ramsey, Eli McKinney, Bennet Simonton, Joseph Clinton, William Newel, James Hall, John Abernathy, John Spence, Sr., Thomas Monce, Andrew Newel, David Morgan, Thomas Dickey, Robert Shields, James B. Spence, William Shields, John Gillis, Joseph Gillis, A. J. Walker, William Coburn, Andrew W. Spence, William B. Spence, Daniel Quinby, Mrs. Janetta Eveland, Peter Eveland, Francis Hopkinson, Estate of William Spence, Dec., Isaac Spence, Sr., James Spence, Peter Schuyler, James Martin, William Swank, John Spence, Sr., Isaac Spence, Jr., and Colon Spence.

From about 1832 until 1842 (as nearly as can be learned from the records) the church was supplied in connection with Goshen by Rev. L. G. Gaines, who was known as a pioneer church builder, he being instrumental in the erection of a number of church buildings. His immediate successor was the Rev. A. H. Rodgers, whose name appears first on the minutes of session of May 28, 1842; he continued to serve the church until December 3, 1843, when his name disappears and is followed by the Rev. S. J. Miller, who preached until 1847. For the next two years, we find the names of Edward Kemper and Slack as supplies. These were followed by Rev. P. Rees, who supplied the church from February 1849, until September 1850, when the Rev. James Connelly took charge of the church and continued to serve until 1852; he was succeeded by Rev. James Coe, who preached for the churches of Bethel and Goshen (as his predecessors had done) until the latter part of 1853. Two other ministers' names appear from this date to 1856, viz., Revs. McCombes and Caldwell. The records do not show whether they were regular supplies or preached only occasionally; probably the latter.

In the year 1856 an important action was taken by the congregation, the first of the kind of which there seems to be any record in the minutes of the session. That action was embodied in the following resolution by the congregation:

Resolved, That we now proceed to elect a pastor.

A vote was then taken and the result was that Rev. J. M. Drake was unanimously chosen. This pastorate continued through two years, when the church again fell back into the stated supply system and employed the Rev. D. Kingery, who we believe was the first minister that was employed for all his time at this place. Rev. Kingery continued to serve the church until the autumn of 1860, when he was succeeded by Rev. I. J. Cushman, whose pastorate continued for more than twenty years, and was only terminated by his death, which occurred in August, 1881. Of this long and faithful pastorate, much of interest might be said, suffice here to say that in Mr. Cushman's death the whole community recognized the loss of an able minister and an upright and consistent Christian in every relation of life. January 1, 1882, the Rev. George M. Maxwell accepted the pastorate of the church and began his labors.

As early as 1867, it became apparent that it would soon be necessary to rebuild the church. About this time, Prof. James E. Murdoch, whose benevolence and generosity are widely known, made a proposition to the church, that if they would rebuild he would raise and contribute a sum equal to half the cost of rebuilding. This proposition was accepted April 14, 1870, committees were appointed to solicit subscriptions; building committees were also appointed; subscriptions were secured from the congregation and community to the amount of about $2,525. This, with Prof. Murdoch's generous proposal, made a building fund of $5,000. Nothing more was done, however, until April 15, 1872, when the building committee were directed to proceed with their work. On the first Monday in May, the work of removing the old building was begun, and in the fall of the same year the new house was completed. The cost of the building, exclusive of the material of the old one, was $4,518.56, and including the same, $5,178.

Within its walls were gathered, on the 2d day of December, 1880, a large assemblage of the people; the occasion was the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of the Rev. I. J. Cushman's pastorate. The old and the young were there. Those that still walked in the ways of the world, as well as the professed followers of Christ, were there, the former drawn thither by their admiration and profound respect for him who in his every day contact with the world, followed faithfully that line of conduct which he so ably and earnestly advocated in the pulpit, the latter by those mysterious chords of love and confidence that bind God's followers to a faithful leader.

The Ministerial Association of Cincinnati delegated a committee to attend the services, consisting of Revs. J. G. Monfort, D. D., Thomas H. Skinner, D. D., Edward Cooper, D. D., L. F. Walker, W. H. James, Thomas Courtleyou and J. P. E. Kumler, D. D. The church was filled to its utmost capacity. After a half hour spent in devotional exercises, Mr. Cushman was called on, and gave a review of his twenty years' work. He was followed by Rev. William B. Spence, of Sidney, who spoke of pioneer life in this section of the Little Miami Valley, and recalled many incidents connected with the early history of this church, near which he was born in 1804. This closed the morning exercises, and after partaking of a banquet served in the parsonage, the audience returned to the church, where the afternoon exercises were begun by Rev. Thomas Courtleyou, Mrs. Cushman's pastor before her marriage. He was followed by Mrs. Horace Clinton, a sister of Rev. Mr. Walker, in an eloquent and touching address to the pastor, on behalf of the congregation. The address was followed by the presentation of the "Eagles." This was an unique and most touching ceremony, in which each year was represented by a Sabbath school scholar. This band of children, twenty in number, came forward in procession and successively repeated an appropriate verse prepared for the occasion, each in turn presenting a golden coin to the pastor. At the conclusion of this touching ceremony, congratulatory letters were read, presents tendered, and some short speeches made by brother ministers present. The audience then sang the hymn, "Blessed Be the Tie that Binds," and were dismissed, thus closing an eventful day in the history of Bethel Church.

BETHEL TEMPERANCE SOCIETY.

The use of intoxicating drink was a besetting sin among the pioneer settlers. Its evil effects were felt in almost every household. Was there to be a wood-chopping or a log-rolling, and we might add with truth, a church building to be raised, whisky was regarded as one of the essential aids to a proper performance of the work. No farmer thought of commencing his harvest, without first securing a liberal supply of liquor. Thomas Dickey, then a young man, was one of the first to awaken to a knowledge of the moral degradation being fastened upon the community by its use. About the year 1825, young Dickey, in connection with James Walker, William Shields, and Andrew Spence, organized the "Bethel Temperance Society." A constitution was drafted and necessary by-laws were adopted. Thomas Dickey was chosen President. Accessions were rapidly made, and in a short time the society numbered one hundred members. It is a remarkable fact that among all these members, but a single violation of the pledge occurred. The influence of this society for good was incalculable. It banished whisky from the social gatherings, from the harvest field, from the log-rolling and other similar gatherings. The society preserved its organization for many years and finally died out, not because the temperance spirit was less dominant, but because the work was completed in the neighborhood. There was no longer any foe to fight.

riod, was nearly universal among the Baptists of Western Ohio and Indiana, and still prevails among the Old School Baptists.

Methodist Episcopal Church.—The first sermon in Warren County by a regularty constituted Methodist minister was preached at Deerfield August 9, 1798, by Rev. John Kobler. Before this, however, Francis McCormick, a Methodist local preacher, had settled near the site of Milford, and he may have preached within the limits of Warren County before the visit of John Kobler. From the journal of Mr. Kobler, we learn that, on the 7th day of August, 1798, having but recently arrived in the Miami country, he set out from Mr. McCormick's house with a guide to form a two-weeks' circuit. Arriving at Deerfield, a little village, in which, he says, there might reside ten or fifteen families, he found some difficulty in finding a place to preach, for a Quaker in the town was opposed to his preaching and praying, and went from house to house to have the doors barred against him. He finally found a cordial reception at the house of a Mr. Sutton, who, he says, was a Baptist. He preached at Sutton's house early in the morning of August 9, and rode on six miles to Turtle Creek, where he preached at 4 o'clock on the same day at the house of Ichabod Corwin. He then passed in an eastern direction through a very thinly settled region.

After preaching at Dayton, he rode down the Great Miami, and preached, on August 13, at the block-house near the site of Miamisburg, to the inhabitants, whom he describes as truly poverty-stricken. He then rode on several miles to a little village called Franklin, where he was kindly entertained by Capt. Ross, at whose house he preached to the inhabitants of the place, which consisted of six or eight families.

The circuit established by Rev. John Kobler, the first regularly constituted Methodist missionary in the Miami Valley, extended from the Ohio to Dayton. The preaching-places were at private houses. At this time, the roads were so imperfect that twenty-five miles made a full day's journey on horseback. One of the preaching-places early established was at the house of Capt. Davis, on Clear Creek. This dwelling was a cabin, containing two rooms. Justice John McLean, then a boy, lived within less than half a mile of Capt. Davis' cabin, and often heard John Kobler preach, and thus writes of him: "I will never forget his appearance and manner. I was always much interested with his discourse, and especially with his prayers. He was tall and well proportioned; his hair was black, and he wore it long, extending over the cape of his coat. His dress was neat, with a straight-breasted coat, and in every respect as became a Methodist preacher of that day. He had a most impressive countenance."

In August, 1798, John Kobler appointed Philip Hill a Class-Leader. In 1800, the conference sent no regular Methodist preacher to the Miami Circuit. There were, however, by this time, four or five local preachers within the circuit. They went everywhere preaching the Word. They preached not only on Sundays, but on other days. They held two-days meetings, and kept up a system of quarterly meetings, which, by this time, were attended by large numbers. Men and women would walk twenty and sometimes thirty miles to attend them. At night, the men would be quartered in barns and outhouses; the women, in the cabins. In 1802, Elisha W. Bowman, then a beardless youth, was sent to the Miami Circuit. In 1803, John Sale and Joseph Oglesby were the preachers for this large circuit.

Presbyterian Church.—The first Presbyterian Churches between the Miami Rivers were under the charge of the Transylvania Presbytery of Kentucky until October, 1798. From that date, they were under the charge of Washington Presbytery, so called from Washington, Mason Co., Ky., until 1810, when the Miami Presbytery was formed. It is from the rocords of these Presbyteries that the only accurate data of the history of the early Presbyterian Churches in Warren County are to be obtained. At a meeting of Washington Presbytery, at Bethel, in Kentucky, October 3, 1797, there was a verbal supplication for pulpit ministrations from Clear Creek, Turtle Creek and Big Prairie, west of the Ohio, and the Presbytery appointed Rev. Peter Wilson, who had a few months before moved to Cincinnati, to supply each of these three places one Sunday; and Rev. James Kemper, and Rev. William Robinson, each to supply two Sundays, on the Miamis. The preaching-place on Clear Creek was a short distance east of Franklin; Turtle Creek was at or near Bedle's Station and west of the site of Lebanon; and Big Prairie was in Butler County, above the mouth of Dick's Creek and below the site of Middletown. At a meeting of Washington Presbytery, at Cane Ridge, in Kentucky, October 2, 1798, a call to Rev. Archibald Steele, a licentiate from Kentucky, was presented from Clear Creek and Big Prairie Churches, the latter at this time called Orangedale. A church called Bethany at the headquarters of Turtle Creek was received under the care of the Presbytery in October, 1800. This appears to have been a church built about two miles east of the site of Lebanon, and did not long maintain an existence.

The foregoing are all the Presbyterian Churches within the limits of Warren County organized prior to the great revival, commonly called the New-Light revival, which, in 1802 and 1803, swept all those named as within the limits of Warren, as well as nearly every other Presbyterian Church in the Miami Valley, out of the Presbyterian denomination. None of these churches were able to secure the whole time of a pastor. All the early preachers had two or more congregations under their charge, besides preaching at private houses or in the woods at different localities. Turtle Creek Church, at Bedle's Station, was probably the largest and most influential of the Presbyterian congregations between the Miami Rivers, Cincinnati alone excepted. About the year 1798, Rev. James Kemper, the pioneer of Presbyterianism in Southwestern Ohio, and the first minister stationed in Cincinnati, took charge of the Turtle Creek Church. He was a man of much energy and industry, and was highly esteemed as a preacher and as a man. Although he had other congregations under his care at the time, he made the Turtle Creek settlement his home. He purchased a half-section of land, built a good hewed-log house and made lasting improvements, evidently with the expectation of remaining permanently. He did not remain long, however, as pastor of the church, or as a resident. Tradition gives two reasons for his separation from the church. One was a misunderstanding with William Bedle, one of his Elders, about a line dividing their farms; the other, that the pastor's wife wore too costly and stylish a bonnet to suit the membership of the church.

A. H. Dunlevy says: "The Turtle Creek Church was made up almost exclusively of plain farmers, and they determined to preserve, if possible, that plainness and simplicity of manners and dress which they conceived the New Testament enjoined on all members of a Christian Church. While all extravagance and gayety of dress were prohibited among male members, the women were to 'adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shame-facedness and sobriety, not with embroidered hair or gold or pearls, or costly array.' While the church existed, this plainness of dress was rigidly enforced."

THE GREAT REVIVAL OF 1801, 1802, 1803, AND THE INTRODUCTION OF SHAKERISM.

The great revival at the commencement of this century was the most remarkable event in the religious history of Warren County. It destroyed every Presbyterian Church then in the county, and nearly every one in Southwestern place for the confinement of prisoners. The cells and interior have, however, generally been kept in as clean and comfortable a condition as practicable, and it still continues the only Warren County prison.

Infirmary.—Until 1831, paupers in Warren County were under the charge of township officers, who let the contracts for the maintenance of the unfortunate poor to the lowest responsible bidders, after due public notice had been given in accordance with the provisions of the law. A farm for poor-house purposes was purchased by the county in 1829, and the same year the construction of a two-story brick infirmary was commenced. The building was fifty-six feet long and thirty feet wide. Smith Ludlum was the contractor for its construction. A large addition was built to this infirmary in 1836. In 1845, a small brick structure was erected for the separate accommodation of insane persons cared for by the county. The infirmary was almost entirely destroyed by fire, in the day-time, December 31, 1866.

The present infirmary was commenced in 1867, and is the largest of the county buildings. It was planned by Capt. William H. Hamilton, who was one of the County Commissioners at the time of its erection. He also served as Superintendent of its construction. The building is three stories high, with a basement nine feet in the clear under the whole structure. It is nearly square, being 90x98 feet, with an open area or court in the center, 36x46 feet. It is built of brick, and contains about seventy apartments. Most of the sleeping-rooms are 12x10½ feet. The total cost was $51,459.

The Warren County Infirmary was opened for the reception of inmates on April 13, 1831, on which day eleven paupers were admitted. The whole number admitted during the year 1831 was twenty-two. The first Board of Infirmary Directors consists of James Cowan, John Osborn and Joseph Kibby, who were appointed by the County Commissioners at their June session, 1831. Robert Porter was the first Superintendent of the Infirmary. Other Superintendents have been: A. Thomas; Bonham Fox; Aaron Stevens, 1841–1854; Joseph Jameson, 1854–1858; John Pauly, 1858–1864; William G. Smith, 1865–1872; A. D. Strickler, 1872–1875; E. F. Irons, 1875–1881; David Glasscock, 1881.

A record has been kept and preserved, giving the names and dates of admission of all the poor who have been admitted into the institution from its opening to the present time. The record also shows what persons have died and were buried at the infirmary, and the persons who have been removed by their friends or had become able to support themselves. On April 13, 1881, the semi-centennial anniversary of the infirmary, there had been received into the institution 3,816 persons.

Orphan Asylum and Children's Home.—Mary Ann Klingling made a bequest of about $35,000 for the endowment of this institution. She died August 16, 1867, aged sixty-nine years. She was a native of Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, and had resided in Lebanon for about twenty years preceding her death. Two of her brothers had been druggists in Lebanon before her arrival in this country. After their death, she had no relatives in America. She was never married, and, although possessed of considerable property, much of which consisted of real estate, she lived with great economy and plainness. Exaggerated reports of her wealth and a peculiar bonnet and dress worn by her, which may have been in vogue in Germany a generation before, attracted to her the gaze of the people whenever she appeared upon the streets. Miss Klingling was buried in the old graveyard at Lebanon, and at her own request, expressed in her will, no tombstone was erected over her grave.

The will of Mary Ann Klingling, after providing for two small annuities, contained the following: "Believing that great good may be done by the erection and endowment of an orphan asylum, where poor white children who have lost one or both of their parents may receive a sound moral and Christian education, and, if necessary, be supported during their minority; and trusting that the fund set aside by this will for that purpose may receive large additions from those disposed to favor so charitable an enterprise, I do, therefore, devote to this purpose all the rest and residue of my estate."

The will further provided that if, within three years from her death, there should not be such additions made by others as would produce an equal income, then the whole amount should be tendered to the village of Lebanon, or to Warren County, or to both, the said corporations furnishing a like sum for the benefit of the asylum. But if no arrangement of this kind was effected within six years, the whole estate was to be conveyed to the German General Protestant Orphan Asylum of Cincinnati. The testatrix desired that the site of the proposed new orphan asylum be at or near Lebanon; that it be not controlled by any particular sect, and that the income of the estate be not expended in costly buildings. James M. Smith and Robert Boake were the executors of the will.

Warren County accepted the bequest and complied with the conditions on which it could be received. As the will provided only for an asylum for orphan children, an act of the Legislature was obtained enabling the county to unite with the asylum a home for indigent children whose parents were both living.

Fifty-three acres of ground, one mile west of Lebanon, were purchased for the institution in 1873, at a cost of $8,162. A building planned by Joel Evans, with rooms to accommodate 100 children, was erected in 1874, at a cost of $22,928, to which additions and improvements have since been added costing $8.500. The first Board of Trustees, appointed by the Court of Common Pleas, consisted of J. P. Gilchrist, President; Joel Evans, Secretary; Benjamin A. Stokes, William H. Clement, Lewis G. Anderson and John P. Keever.

The object of the institution is to furnish an asylum for orphans and indigent children of the county under sixteen years of age, where they will be supported and provided with physical, mental and moral training, until suitable homes in private families can be procured for them, or until they are capable of providing for themselves, or their parents or guardians for them.

Persons desiring to adopt children, or to take them as apprentices, must present to the Board of Trustees satisfactory testimonials of character and fitness to have charge of the training of such children. The Trustees reserve the right of supervision over the children sent out from the institution, and the privilege of visiting them.

ROADS.

The first roads in Warren County were mere traces or paths for horses. The trace of Harmar's army was used as a road at the beginning of this century. Public highways were soon located, but these for years were little more than tracks through the woods cleared of timber, with few bridges, and in the rich and fresh condition of the soil became almost impassable in the wet seasons. Wagoning, however, was a most important business, and it was common for several wagons to travel together for the mutual aid to be derived from combining teams when a wagon stuck in the mud. It was wagoning in this way, as well as driving a wagon-load of provisions for Harrison's army on the swamps of the St. Mary's in 1812, that gave the popular sobriquet of "the wagoner boy" to Thomas Corwin, who, it is said, proved himself "a good whip and an excellent reinsman."

After the admission of Ohio into the Union, Congress applied three per cent of the proceeds of the public lands sold within the State to the construction of roads in the State. This three per cent fund was applied under the direction of the owner of several large tracts; he gave a lot for the Unity Church and graveyard; he located on the hill east of Students' Hall, where he kept an important stopping-place for travelers and where a post office was soon stationed. His family consisted of six children, and, when they became grown, he removed with them to Dayton, where some of them have been quite prominent in the legal profession, and one has been Governor of Iowa.

Joseph Scofield was among the settlers about 1800, who located south of Mason. A man by the name of Keelor settled the extreme southwestern section of the township; which is now known as the Morrison farm.

Among others who owned lands in the early part of this century, and have no descendants now in the township, were Ralph Phillips, John Gano, Jedediah Tingle, Benjamin Scudder, Benjamin Stites, John Shaw, Patrick Shaw, Ralph Hunt, David Flynn, John Cain, Piercy Kitchel, Garrett Peterson, John Howard, Luther Ball, David Enyart, John Glass, James Fugate, Henry Houk, Jedediah Hewett, John Trimble, Dick Compton, H. Cole, Dr. Cazad, William Kendall.

John Seward, the father of Mason Seward, a prominent man of Mason for many years, emigrated here in the first decade of the century and located just east of town.

The Cline family came from Pennsylvania a short time after 1800 and settled on Section 22. To Frederick Cline, who is still living, we are much indebted for valuable information.

The Dodds family first settled north of Lebanon, but came to this township in 1808, and located south of Mason on the Jos. Dodds farm. Benjamin Dodds, the father, was a man of energy, and raised a family consisting of eleven children, most of whom remained in the township and became the heads of large families.

The Wikoff family came from New Jersey in 1810, and settled on the Coulson farm southwest of Mason.

The Voorhis family first settled west of Lebanon on the Snook farm. Of the children that became grown, Alfred located on the old Schenck farm, which he still owns.

The William Coulson family came from Pennsylvania to this township in 1811, and settled on the farm north of Mason, which is still in the family. Mr. Coulson was quite a prominent man during his years of activity; his family was large, most of whom remained in the township.

James Johnson came about the year 1806, and settled on Section 18; his family consisted of eleven children, most of whom arrived at the age of maturity.

In 1816, a family of eight orphans, by the name of Dill, came from New York and settled on Section 17, where the John Hoff farm now is.

The Thompson family came some time in the decade of 1820, and located in the neighborhood of Socialville.

John Randall settled early on a farm west of Mason. For many years he was the Treasurer of the county, being regarded by all as a man of honesty and integrity.

Some other early families can be named, as David Slayback, Morrison, Baxter, Hageman, Irwin, Monfort, Rynearson, Voorhees, White, Scott, Bercaw, Baysore, Van Horn, Argendine, Hoff, McClung, Bursk, Bennett, Vandyke and Smith, who came at a later day and are at present well represented in the township.

years of age, he emigrated to Ohio and embarked in a mercantile enterprise, keeping what is known as a general store in Ravenna, where he remained thirteen years. He subsequently moved to Summit County and engaged in the same business. He was married in September, 1831, to Miss Harriet Kent, daughter of Zenith Kent, a wealthy merchant and banker of Kent, Ohio. Their union was blest with six children, as follows: Harriet L., deceased; Charles H., deceased; Charles K., Cashier First National Bank, Kent, Ohio; Ella M., wife of John M. Southwick, a wholesale leather dealer of New York; George A., doing business in New York; and Edward Lewis, a citizen of San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Clapp were, previous to 1846, members of the Presbyterian Church, but in the above year he became converted to the Shaker faith and joined that society with which he has since continued.

CHARLES S. COLVIN, Sr., liveryman, Lebanon, was born in New Jersey Jan. 13, 1822. His father, John Colvin, was born in Ireland and emigrated to America in the beginning of the nineteenth century, and about the year 1818 married Miss Martha Brown, a native of New Jersey, by whom he had six children, four now living. He died in Salem County, N. J., in 1826, at the age of 34 years. His widow with her children came to Ohio in the spring of 1832, and settled in Lebanon, Warren County, where she died in 1852. Our subject attended country schools for a short time, and at the tender age of seven years went to work on a farm, at which he continued until he reached his majority, when he commenced teaming for himself. In 1852, he opened a livery stable in the east end of Lebanon, and, after moving his stable to various parts of town, he, in 1865, opened the stable on Mechanic street, where he has since remained. On the 7th of November, 1843, he married Miss Mary L. Gohegan, daughter of Edwin and Elizabeth Gohegan, natives of Lebanon. He has had six children, three only surviving, viz., John E., Charles S., Jr. and Ella. Mr. Colvin is a man of genial, accommodating manners, and does a thriving livery business, for which he seems to be peculiarly adapted.

EDWIN E. CORLIS (deceased), was born in the State of New Jersey, Feb. 16, 1806, and died in Warren County, Ohio, March 11, 1868. He was the son of Samuel and Catherine (Wooley) Corlis, natives of New Jersey, who emigrated to Ohio in 1816, and settled in Turtle Creek Township, where our subject was raised, and where he spent most of his life. He was married Oct. 29, 1834, to Miss Rebecca McGrew, a native of Montgomery Co., Ohio, of Scotch-Irish descent; the issue of this marriage consisted of five children, only two of whom now survive, viz.: Samuel, who was born March 11, 1837; and John, born Aug. 3, 1839. They both received a common school education, and have followed farming during the whole of their lives, now being the owners of a well-improved farm in Sec. 25, Turtle Creek Township. John, the younger of the two, was married Nov. 12, 1878, to Miss Alice Underwood, a native of Virginia, and daughter of Jackson Underwood. Both of the sons are among the prominent, influential and enterprising farmers of the township in which they reside.

ROBERT G. CORWIN, lawyer, Lebanon, was born at the pioneer residence of his father, on land, now included in the town of Lebanon, July 28, 1815. He is the son of Ichabod Corwin, whose name appears in the general history of Lebanon and Turtle Creek Township. His father was born in the State of New Jersey, while the family were en route for Kentucky, to which State they emigrated at an early day. His mother, Sarah (Griffin) Corwin, was a native of Washington Co., Penn. Previous to the death of his father in 1834, our subject attended the subscription schools of Lebanon, Dennison University at Granville, Ohio, and a high school that was opened, and taught one term at Franklin. From 1834 to 1837, he was under the tutelage of Judge

Susannah Eltzroth, came to America from Germany about the middle of the last century, and settled in Frederick Co., Md., about nine miles from Hagerstown and eighteen miles from Baltimore. Here Francis Eltzroth, the grandfather of our subject, was born June 4, 1762. Young as he was, during the Revolution he took part as a soldier in the war of Independence, and on the return of peace, was married July 24, 1786, to Catherine Oswalt, daughter of Philip and Margaret Oswalt, who was born Feb. 20, 1766. To Francis and Catherine Eltzroth were born ten children, five sons and five daughters, seven of whom were born in Maryland and three in this township. Early in 1802 Francis Eltzroth with his family left his native State for the North West Territory. On reaching the upper Ohio, the family, with the exception of the father and eldest son, embarked in a flat-boat and arrived at Columbia, May 15, 1802. Francis and his son Jonas, aged 13, came with the horses through the wilderness by way of Chillicothe, and joined the family at Columbia, a few days after the arrival of the boat. In the summer of 1802, Francis moved with his family to what is now Hamilton Township, Warren Co., where he purchased the whole of Military Survey 3,791, upon which he resided until his death. Jonas Eltzroth, the father of our subject, was born April 24, 1789, and married Catherine Morgan, by whom he had thirteen children, six sons and seven daughters, ten of whom lived to maturity, married and raised families. He owned and resided on a farm upon which a part of which Cozaddale now stands. The last years of his life were passed in Stark Co., Ill., where he died. Daniel, the eldest child of Jonas Eltzroth, was born Sept. 26, 1813, on the farm where Benjamin Eltzroth now lives; was reared on his father's farm and had benefit of but three months at school. He has always followed the business of farming; owns 125 acres, upon which he has resided since his marriage, and which he successfully cultivates, his farm being one of the best in Hamilton Township. He attends strictly to his business, avoids law suits, and is respected by all his neighbors. He was married to Hannah Shepley, only child of Samuel Shepley, of this township, by whom he has had three children, Samuel, Jonas and William F. The two former are farmers in this township, the last is a lawyer at Lebanon.

JACOB ERTEL, farmer, P. O., Maineville. The subject of this sketch was born in this township in the year 1810, and is a son of Daniel Ertel, who settled in the southwestern part of the township in 1792. He came from Pennsylvania with his family, wife (Catherine) and three children. He purchased 600 acres of land but lost all but 110 acre by putting up a forfeit he could not redeem. On this land he lived and prospered, built a "still" house, and afterwards purchased other lands at from $2.50 to $3.00 per acre, owning in the aggregate about 1,000 acres. He died in 1831 at the age of 54 years. He had by his wife eleven children, two of whom are living, viz: Sophia and our subject. His wife survived him and died at the age of 94 years. Valentine, their son, served in the War of 1812. Our subject was reared on the farm and has seen as much of the hardship of this county as any other man, and has made rails at 25 cents per hundred. He was married in 1834 to Malinda Borum. For twenty years he was engaged in the plant business in Loveland and at home, and in 1837 settled where he now lives. At present he owns $64\frac{2}{3}$ acres of land. Twelve children have been born to them, five living, viz: James, Lewis M., Benjamin F., Sabina and Elizabeth. The deceased are, Andrew J., Nancy J., Solomon, Kemper, Adelaide, and two who died in infancy. The living are, with a single exception, living in the county, and are well-to-do citizens.

JOHN ERTEL, farmer, P. O., Maineville, was born on the place where he now resides, in 1827, and is a son of John and Elizabeth (Eyer) Ertel. John Sr. was born in this township, near Loveland, and was a son of Daniel and Catherine (Myers) Ertel, who were among the early pioneers in this county. John Ertel, Sr., made a permanent home here and was a successful farmer and a respected citizen. He died in 1857 at the age of 51 years. She died in 1833, just eighteen years, to the day, before him. They were parents of six children, Henry, Catherine, John, Jacob, Wintell and Mary. By his second wife, Sarah Daughman, he had four children, Sophia, Lydia, William and Valentine. His second wife is yet living. Our subject, in his younger days, learned the smithing trade, working as an apprentice two years. He resided in Clermont Co., O., seven years, and during this time, in 1850, was married to Rhoda E. Dudley, by whom he had seven children,—Frances M., Cyrus T., Watson T., Ira C., Clarence D., Luella M. and Anna B. Mrs. E. died June 22, 1876, aged 46 years. His second marriage was celebrated with Sarah M. Taylor, of Clinton Co., O., in 1879. In 1854 he settled on the old home farm, $104\frac{3}{4}$ acres. He has been a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church since 1843, and is an exemplary man of high Christian virtues.

HENRY FORD, deceased, was born in Hamilton Township, May 21, 1817, and was a son of Henry and Susan Ford, who were born in Delaware. His early education was received in the traditional log school house. Jan. 14, 1841, he was married. Mrs. Ford born near Lexington, Ky., in the year 1789. After his marriage he located on a farm left him by his father. To them were born eight children, two of whom are living, viz: Samuel H. and Eliza C. The deceased are: Mary J. and Margaret S. The others died in infancy. He lived on the home place eleven years; then removed to a farm south of Maineville, and finally to the home occupied at this time by his widow. During his business career he was largely engaged in dealing in stock, and was one of the best farmers in the township. He was a large, portly man, and when in health weighed 350 pounds. He was a consistent and exemplary member of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The last five years of his life were years of continual suffering, but he managed his business up to within a few days of his death, and was ready for the fell destroyer when he came, and calmly fell into that sleep which knows no waking Aug. 19, 1881. The father of Mrs. F. was married to Jane Pollock, who died at the age of 23 years. They were parents of three children—all deceased. His second marriage was celebrated with Margaret Liggett, Jan. 13, 1813, and to them were born nine children, and Mrs. F. is the only surviving one. He engaged in farming in which he continued in until his death. He and his estimable wife were members of the Presbyterian Church, to which they belonged for a term of years.

RICHARD FORD, farmer, P. O., Morrow. Richard Ford, the subject of our sketch, was born in Hamilton Township, Warren Co., O., on Oct. 28, 1812. He was the son of Henry and Susan Ford, who were among Warren Co.'s first settlers. Richard was reared on a farm, and received his education in a district school. He was married Jan. 7, 1834, to Cynthia L. Ludlum. To them have been born three children, viz: Margaret L., Smith M. and Rebecca E. He has been successful in business, and is at present the owner of 100 acres of tillable land. Smith M., Mr. Ford's only son, was reared on a farm till he arrived at the age of 13, at which age he attended the Maineville Academy, from whence he went to Delaware University at the age of 16, and graduated with honors in his 20th year. He was a teacher in the Female Academy of Xenia in 1866. He is a talented speaker, and very successful in business matters.

SAMUEL D. FORD, farmer, P. O., Morrow, was born in Hamilton Co., O. in 1823, and is a son of Elijah and Jerusha (Kibbey) Ford. He (Elijah) was born in Delaware, Aug. 6, 1782, and was a son of Richard Ford, who, with two brothers, emigrated from England to America about the year 1774 or 1775, and settled either in Virginia or Maryland. All went into the war on the American side and fought throughout that lengthy struggle. Richard was married to Mary Gills, who bore him five children viz: Henry, born Nov. 15, 1780; Elijah, (date above); Jonathan, born June 12, 1784; Amelia, born June 10, 1786; Joseph, born March 29, 1797. Mary, wife of Richard, died Jan. 8, 1808. In 1809, he started for Ohio and on the road was accidentally killed by being run over by his loaded wagon. The family came on and settled in this township, where all lived and died, except Joseph, who died in Putnam Co., O. Elijah was married to Jerusha

Our subject received not the advantage of an education in the earlier part of his life, but afterwards, by studiously applying his mind, and chiefly through his own efforts, succeeded in obtaining a good business-like education. At the age of 15 he began learning the harness trade, which was completed three years after. It was then he began to realize the necessity of an education, which he set out in pursuit of, and won. After attaining his majority he engaged in teaching, which he followed five years, and as an educator became well and favorably known. In 1862 he enlisted in Co. K, 79th O. V. I.; saw active service until June, 1864, at which time he was wounded in front of Atlanta, Ga. For meritorious service he was after this promoted to a 1st Lieut., but being unable to pass muster on account of disability caused by the wound, could not accept the proffered honor. In September, 1865, he was "mustered out" and returned home, and a few months later went to Camp Denison, where he remained until 1866, since when he has been engaged in various enterprises. He is now established in Maineville in the capacity of conveyancer, and is in discharge of the duties and responsibilities of Justice of the Peace, Township and Corporation Clerk. Mr. Kelley belongs to all Masonic bodies, being a member of Lebanon Lodge, No. 26, Chapter No. 5, and to the Miami Commandery.

A. KING, proprietor of King's Great Western Powder Works, South Lebanon; the gentleman whose name we present at the head of this memoir is one of the successful and energetic business men of Warren Co.; he was born in Suffield, Conn., Oct. 18, 1842, and is a son of Thomas King, a native of the same State; he was reared on the farm in his New England home and received a common education in the district schools; at the age of 16, he came to Ohio and entered the employ of the Miami Powder Co., which mills were located in Xenia; for two years he worked as an employe, and during the time, by close observance, gained a practical knowledge of the business in detail, and was given the foremanship of the mills, which he successfully directed and operated for three years; he then took an interest in the business, which he sustained till 1877, when he sold out, and in partnership with J. W. King, purchased lands on the Little Miami River, on which has been erected since "King's Great Western Powder Works," of which our subject is part owner, foreman and general business manager. The business of this mill is extensive, and, from the improvements being made, it is safe to predict that it is destined to become the leading manufacturing enterprise of Warren Co. On the 20th day of September, 1863, Mr. K. was married to Amanda, daughter of Henry Luck, of Indiana, who has borne him seven children, viz., George, Hattie, Isa, Harry, Robert, Jessie and Stella; Mrs. K. is a member of the Baptist Church and a very estimable lady.

F. B. LYTLE, farmer; P. O. South Lebanon. The gentleman whose name is presented at the head of this memoir is a descendant of one among the early pioneers in Union Township; he was born in 1823, and is a son of William B. Lytle, who was born in Mifflin Co., Penn., in the year 1796. He was a son of Andrew Lytle, who was born in Pennsylvania Nov. 15, 1766, and who was of Irish lineage; in the year 1796, he, with his wife and two children (Robert and William), on horseback, came over the mountains to Ohio, and located in Deerfield; he established a tanyard in the above place, the first in the county, if not the first in the State; he afterward purchased two farms of 160 acres each, both lying in Union Township; he continued in the tanning business till his death, which occurred June 23, 1830, aged 64. His wife departed this life Sept. 29, 1833, aged 70 years; they were parents of three children, who grew to maturity, viz., Robert, William and David (all deceased). He was one of the promoters and organizers of the Christian Church, the first ecclesiastical society established in the township; he served in the capacity of Justice of the Peace for a number of years, and none ever questioned the integrity nor the honesty of purpose of Andrew Lytle. William B. Lytle, father of our subject, was an infant of but a few months old when his parents came into the county, and, when old enough, learned his father's trade, which he never followed to any great extent. He was married to Catharine, daughter of Gen. David Sutton, one of the first settlers in Union Township, by whom he had five children, viz., Andrew (deceased), Franklin B., Harvey (deceased), Mary E. and David (deceased). William Lytle was a farmer by occupation, and, with the exception of being Postmaster of the Deerfield office, held no other position of note. He departed this life in April, 1864; his wife survived him until June, 1879, when she died at the age of 78 years. Both were exemplary members of the Christian Church, the same that was organized by his father in the early history of the county. F. B. Lytle was reared to farm pursuits, and received only a district school education; he was married, April 14, 1852, to Gertrude, daughter of Thomas and Sarah A. (Wikoff) Hall; to them have been born six children, four living, viz., David, Charley, Catharine and Anna; the deceased are Mary B. and Thomas H. Mr. L. owns a highly improved farm, one and a half miles west of Deerfield, and is a leading and enterprising citizen. Mrs. L. was born in Deerfield Township in the year 1830.

NATHAN K. LYTLE, distiller, South Lebanon. This gentleman was born in Union Township in 1843, and is a son of Robert Lytle, who was a son of Andrew Lytle, one of the first settlers in Warren County, of whom mention is made in this

RATTLESNAKE RECORD

Michigan Farmer Says He Is Champion Foe of Reptile.

Lansing, Sept. 3.—Killing more than 3,000 rattlesnakes in twenty-five years is the record of Charles H. Silcox, a farmer, who claims the championship of the central states.

Silcox, who was formerly a printer and who, when a youngster in the trade, "set up" copy from the pens of Mark Twain and Bill Nye, as well as M. Quad, quit the type-setting business thirty years ago to take up agricultural pursuits in Michigan.

Silcox settled on an island in the middle of a 6,000 acre tract of swamp land owned by Zack Chandler, Michigan's greatest statesman. Chandler, when he was a United States senator, owned a vast acreage in central Michigan. The land was composed of marshy ground, much of which was inundated the year around. Some of it, however, was tillable and Chandler declared that there was a future for it when Michigan became settled and agriculture became an absolutely necessary industry.

Silcox was hired by the Chandler estate to till the ground that was workable on the island, whereon Chandler had erected a fine old house and where in the earlier days he entertained statesmen and congressmen extensively. Silcox occupied this old house and cultivated the land about it. The plowing season was a dangerous one every spring on account of the great number of rattlesnakes that infested the lowlands and which came out on high lands to bask in the sun and thaw out their dormancy.

The first year on the Chandler farm Silcox's wife nearly abandoned him on account of fear of reptiles which came into the house as regular as ants. Silcox, however, persuaded her to remain and assist in the killing, and nearly 400 rattlers were slaughtered the first year. Every year from then on, Silcox averaged over 100 dead rattlers. He has killed as many as ten in one small pile of swamp hay.

This spring was his smallest record, as but ten poisonous snakes were victims of his club. The small called battles. He was taken sick at Farmville, Va., and was in the hospital two months at Cedar Point and Georgetown, and then came home. Since then he has followed farming. He belongs to Erastus Hoyt Post, No. 69, G. A. R., of which he is commander, and has filled this position for many years. He belonged to the Odd Fellows for forty years, but at the present time is not affiliated. He was a Whig in early life, and has been a Republican ever since the formation of the party. He has been on the county board two terms; was county treasurer two years; has been a member of the town board several terms; and was assessor of the town of Albany thirteen terms.

WILLIAM MINOR LUDLUM, who died Oct. 21, 1900, in Belmont, Lafayette county, where he was living retired, belonged to the fast lessening number of those who came to this State when it was very largely a wilderness, and with gigantic courage attacked the prairie and the forest with the implements of civilization, living to see the State become a garden spot of industry and wealth. Few there are of that noble company remaining, and let those who do have the more honor and reverence.

Mr. Ludlum was born in Warren county, Ohio, in November, 1823, a son of Ephraim and Mary (Kelly) Ludlum, both natives of that county, who spent their lives on a farm within its limits. Two of their children are still living: Clarinda is the widow of John Young, and is living on the old farm in Warren county, Ohio, at the advanced age of eighty-eight years; Phebe is the widow of Benjamin Clark, and lives in Warren county, Ohio. Johanna, Rebecca and James came to Wisconsin, and married in this State, but all have been dead some years.

William M. Ludlum grew to manhood on the home farm in Ohio, and received a very good education in the local schools until he met with an unfortunate accident in early life that shut him out from school attendance in the later years of his boyhood. He began well, but becoming a cripple was not able to go to school or study with that intensity that his nature would otherwise have demanded. Nevertheless he was a close reader and an attentive student of the world around him, and his conclusions were neither hastily drawn nor contrary to facts as they appear to the thoughtful eye. It was not until 1843 that Mr. Ludlum felt able once more to wrestle with fate and fortune, and he essayed the struggle by coming into the West, and doing farm work in Lafayette county, Wis. After a few years spent in this fashion he had saved enough to warrant the purchase of eighty acres of government land, at a dollar and a quarter an acre, and he began life for himself as an independent farmer. A few years later he bought a second eighty at ten dollars an acre, and still later he bought more land, until at the time of his death he owned as handsome a farm, of 200 acres, as may be found in many a day's ride in the southern part of Wisconsin.

In 1848 Mr. Ludlum and Miss Ruth A. Osborn were married. She is a daughter of Stephen and Mary Osborn, both her parents being members of old families. Her father, who was a Revolutionary soldier, died when she was but four years old. Her mother subsequently remarried, and moved to Virginia, where she died. Mrs. Ludlum was born in Fayette county, Penn., in 1824, and remained in her native county until she had become a girl of eighteen, when she accompanied her brother Peter to Wisconsin. She located here, but he was not satisfied with the outlook, and after two years moved into Iowa, and still later to Johnson county, Kan., where he is still living. A second sister, Lavina, accompanied Ruth A. and Peter Osborn to Wisconsin; she married Moses Eastmann, moved to California in 1852, and died in 1868. Lydia Osborn married Samuel Bell, lived in Pennsylvania, and died there in 1894. Martha and Catherine Osborn accompanied their mother to Virginia, where they married and are now living. Samuel Osborn died in Henry county, Iowa. John Osborn came to Galena at a very early day; there he married, and brought his wife to Lafayette county, Wis., where he was located on a farm for some years; selling out, he went to Iowa, and is living a retired life in that State. Enoch Osborn is a retired farmer in the town of Tabor, Iowa.

After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Ludlum built a log house on their farm, which served them as a home until 1884. That year they put up a modern house, with up-to-date improvements, and set the old building back to serve very subordinate purposes. Mr. Ludlum built a large Pennsylvania barn on his farm some twenty-five years ago. In 1899 Mr. Ludlum bought a residence in the city of Belmont, which the family still occupy; it is a pleasant and commodious edifice, and has all the comforts of a well regulated home. Our subject and his wife had five children, two of whom are living; Laura M., Mary L., and Martha S. died in childhood. E. O. Ludlum, the only son, was born in Lafayette county in 1849, was partly educated in the local schools, and attended the Normal at Platteville. He remained with his parents until his marriage, with Miss Martha Killpatrick, of Galena, Ill. They settled on the old homestead, where she died in 1888, leaving five sons, Charles H., Fred E. (who was killed by a runaway horse when he was sixteen years old), Richard F., Clarence B. and William E. Charles H., the eldest of this family, is married, and resides in Belmont, where he is engaged in the livery and feed business. Hattie C. Ludlum, the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Minor Ludlum, grew up on the home farm, was very well educated in the local schools, and married Walter E. Wright, of Belmont, where they live, and where he is engaged in business. She is the mother of three children, Laura M., Luella Pearl and Lester E.

Mr. Ludlum was a Republican, and a supporter of the party from its organization. He was brought up under the influence of the Methodist Church, and, though he never joined the church, he always gave liberally to its support. He and his good wife were numbered among the earliest pioneers of the State, and among its honored and well-to-do citizens, holding a warm place in the hearts of their neighbors for their kindly and genial qualities.

GRATIOT FAMILY in Southwestern Wisconsin. Among the families whose annals are intertwined with the history of the Wisconsin lead mine region, none occupies a more honorable and conspicuous place than that of Gratiot.

The founder of the family in America was Charles Gratiot. He was a remarkable man. His father and mother were Huguenots of La Rochelle, France, and were driven from their home and native land by the savage act of Louis XIV, in revoking the edict of Nantes. They fled to Switzerland, and took up their residence at Lausanne, where Charles was born. He was sent to England, where he received a business education, and before his majority sought wealth and fame in the fur trade in Canada. With headquarters at Mackinaw, he traveled to all the early French settlements and among all the Indian tribes of the Northwest. The canoe and the batteau formed his merchant fleet, and with them he journeyed in his adventurous trade from Montreal to St. Louis. In the year 1774 he abandoned the lake region, and established trading posts at Cahokia and Kaskaskia. When the Revolutionary war broke out he gave time, influence and fortune to the cause of freedom and independence. At the close of the war Charles Gratiot established himself at St. Louis. He married Victoire Choteau, and thus allied himself with the founders of St. Louis. Charles Gratiot had four sons: Henry, Charles, John Bunyan and Paul Messellier. He had five daughters: Julie, Victoire, Marie Therese, Emile Anna, and Louise Isabelle Choteau.

Charles Gratiot, Jr., was born in St. Louis, Aug. 29, 1786, and died there May 18, 1855. He graduated from the United States Military Academy in 1806; was second lieutenant of engineers; captain in 1808; served under Gen. Harrison in 1812; was brevetted colonel; was at the defense of Fort Meigs in 1813; and of Fort McKenzie in 1814. He was major of engineers in 1815; built the fortifications on the Delaware river, and planned and superintended the erection of Fortress Monroe; was lieutenant colonel in 1819; chief engineer, Engineer Department, in 1828; brevet major general, May 24, 1828; inspector United States Military Academy in 1838; and resigned in 1839.

Charles Gratiot, Jr., married Ann Belin, of Philadelphia. He had two daughters: Marie Victoire married Charles F. de Montholon, was lady of honor to Empress Carlotta in Mexico, and allied to some of the most distinguished families of France; her sister, Julia Agusta, was married to her cousin, Charles P. Choteau.

Louise Isabelle, sister of Charles Gratiot, Jr., was born in St. Louis, and died there July 13, 1878. On May 31, 1812, she married Jules de Mun, of the nobility of France.

John Bunyan Gratiot was born at St. Louis, Feb. 19, 1797, was a partner with his brother Henry in mining and smelting lead ore in Wisconsin, and lived at "Gratiot's Grove," where

A FAMILY SECRET SHARED

by F. (Froberg) Wooley

Sometimes when digging into family history, one comes up with some data that the family does not discuss, let alone want to be published. However, since none of the persons mentioned are still living, having this information made public is not going to harm anyone.

The search began as we were trying to locate the parents of a great-grandmother, EUNICE ARRISON. We knew from other family members that she had been married to SMITH LUDLUM who was born at Hopkinsville (Warren) Ohio.

In checking out "Gateway to the West" came across the name ARISON. The entry happened to be a Court of Common Pleas (Warren) record naming ARISON as the plaintiff and TRUMP as the defendant. We immediately secured a microfilm copy of these proceedings thru the Family History Center (LDS #1031467).

From these handwritten court proceedings which began on August 15, 1842, learned that MARY ANN ARRISON was suing ELLIOTT TRUMP for bastardy. Another hearing was held on November 14, 1842.

The child, EUNICE ARRISON was born at Hopkinsville on January 4, 1843. At the next hearing dated April 1, 1843, the defendant pleaded guilty to the charge and admitted he was the father of this child. He was ordered to pay in installments maintenance for the child in the sum of one hundred and fifty dollars plus court costs.

Then at the hearing on September 9, 1843, the court cancelled the debt as ELLIOTT TRUMP, age 24 years, 10 months and 25 days, had died on August 29, 1843. At this time, do not know if ELLIOTT TRUMP died of natural causes, in jail, or if he committed suicide.

Her daughter, EUNICE ARRISON, in August of 1850, was residing in the home of HAMILTON LUDLUM. It is not known why he was appointed her legal guardian except that a CLARINDA LUDLUM (relationship unknown-perhaps a cousin?) was married to JOHN S. TRUMP, who was involved with the bastardy suit and could have been ELLIOTT TRUMP'S brother.

Have been unable to locate the whereabouts of MARY ANN ARRISON from that time until September 18, 1850 when she married, as his second wife, THERON TERWILLIGER in (Warren) Ohio. Five children were born of this union and two sons who only lived for a few months are buried in the Hopkinsville Cemetery.

After MARY ANN'S marriage to TERWILLIGER, he became the legal guardian of EUNICE. On August 30, 1858 he gave permission for EUNICE to marry SMITH LUDLUM, eldest son of her former guardian, HAMILTON LUDLUM. She was 15 years of age, her new husband was 25 years of age. SMITH died August 30, 1913 and EUNICE died October 19, 1927. They were farmers family of five sons and four daughters.

It wasn't until many years later as we were reading the diary of our grandmother that we learned what had happened to MARY ANN (ARRISON) TERWILLIGER. In the diary, it states that on Memorial Day, the family always went to Glendora (Berien) Michigan (a short distance from their home) to place flowers on the grave of their grandmother. No one else in the family has any recollection or remembers where their grandmother is buried.

Going to the small Glendora Cemetery, it was very easy to locate the cemetery marker although the name TERWILLIGER is misspelled as TWILLIGER. Then going thru land records, found that MARY ANN TERWILLIGER, a widow, had in 1863 purchased property in Glendora near where her son-in-law SMITH LUDLUM and his wife, EUNICE had established their home. Three of her children, all born in Ohio, came with her.

MARY ANN (ARRISON) TERWILLIGER was born November 29, 1820 and died July 8, 1889. We are still searching to locate her parents and her birthplace. Also trying to find parents and birthplace of ELLIOT TRUMP. Would appreciate any information that would help.

a son of Smith and Mary Ludlum, was born in Warren County, Ohio, on the 20th day of September, 1822. ~~In 1839~~ he began working at the carriage making trade in Lebanon, Ohio, and continued in the business until 1844, when he turned his attention to farming, which he has since followed, and now owns a good farm of 160 acres in Franklin Township. In April, 1844, he came to Shelby County, and settled on the farm where he now resides. Dear Fran: RE: LUDLOW

This is a belated answer to your Jan. 14, 1989 letter. Sorry for the delay. Somehow letters grow in my backlog while I dash around on local volunteer work.

You mentioned that you do not have "anything back farther than this". You started with OBADIAH JR., so I assume you are interested in the names of his parents. They follow:

OBADIAH LUDLUM and SARAH(WATSON) his wife came from Long Island and settled in Westfield. They had but one child that grew up to manhood, who was named OBADIAH who married PHEBE MARSH of Westfield and had children:

1. JACOB who m. MARGARET POOL of Elizabethtown, dau. of WILLIAM POOL.
2. SARAH who m. DAVID CRANE of Elizabethtown.
3. WATSON who went to the South and d. unmarried.
4. SAMUEL who m. ____________
5. SMITH who m. RUTH BADGLEY.
6. PATTY who m. DANIEL MUNSON of New York.
7. BETSEY who m. EBENEZER STEVENSON of New York
8. JOSEPH b. 17 Dec. 1779 who m. BETSEY MOREHOUSE, dau. of SIMEON.
9. JOANNA b. 26 September 1781 who m. DANIEL CORY (my ancestor).
10. EZRA m. RACHEL SEGOINE of New York and lived and died there.

OBADIAH LUDLUM Jr. died and his widow married ELDER DANIEL CORY of Long Hill, father of DANIEL who m. JOANNA, abovementioned.

(Ref. for all of above is from LITTELL's Genealogies of Passaic Valley, p. 270.)

These data following is from "The Cory Family" by HARRIET CORY DICKINSON, 1917-N.J. Historical Society, Newark, N.J. (probably also in LDS library): "Early in the 17th Century came to America from Matlock, Derbyshire, England three brothers LUDLUM. They were WILLIAM, ANTHONY and OBADIAH. NO

NO NOT TRUE
1. OBADIAH settled in Hempstead, L.I. where he married SARAH (WATSON) and they moved to Westfield, N. J., but what year is not known.
2. OBADIAH LUDLUM (JR.) m. PHEBE (MARSH) in Westfield. N.S.

In N.J.Archives, Calendar of Wills, Vol. IV, Vol. XXXIII 1761-70, page 263: "I give and bequeath to son OBADIAH LUDLUM my Bay Horse and the Rent of the place or plantation whereon I now live which place I hired of JONATHAN WOODRUFF JUNIOR during the terms I have hired it..."

If you write to the Director of Research of the New Providence Historical Society, MRS. ANNE CHOVAN, 88 Crane Circle, New Providence, N.J. 07974, perhaps she will look in the BADGLEY files and have more information for you.

INDIANA

ALEXANDER W. LUDLUM, farmer, Chester Township, was born in Warren County, Ohio, September 30, 1831, son of Hamilton and Janetta (Wilson) Ludlum, also natives of Ohio. His grandparents came to Ohio from New Jersey. He was reared in his native county until he reached the age of eighteen years, then came to Union County, this State, and served an apprenticeship of three years at the carpenter's trade. He returned to Ohio and remained about a year, then came back to Indiana, where he remained until the spring of 1855. He was at that time engaged in building an academy there; but a money panic occurred and the work was suspended. He then went back to Ohio, and the following autumn returned to Indiana. In the fall of 1859 he came to Blackford County, and the following spring purchased eighty acres of land, forty acres being cleared, and some ordinary improvements had been made. He afterward added another eighty acres; and after giving land to his two children, has eighty acres in his home farm, with about fifty acres of clearing. He was married October 28, 1855, to Miss Esther Brannon, a native of Fayette County, this State, and daughter of Samuel and Nancy (Ball) Brannon. Her father was born in the South, and the mother in Windsor County, Vermont. They were married in Missouri, and afterward lived in Franklin, Union and Fayette counties, Indiana, and finally, in 1852, removed to Wells County. Her father died January 12, 1877, and the mother still resides in Chester Township. Mr. and Mrs. Ludlum have had four children, of whom two, Nancy Jane and William F., are deceased. Those living are—Marietta, wife of Joseph A. Jarrett, residing in Chester Township, and Edward J., who married Adalina C. Stout, also residing in Chester Township. Mr. Ludlum's parents died in Warren County, Ohio, the mother, June 5, 1840, and the father, in August, 1858. In politics he is a Republican. Mrs. Ludlum is a member of the Methodist church.

NOAH BERGMAN, M. D., of Tocsin, was born in Fairfield County, Ohio, and with his parents, George and Matilda (Sager) Bergman, came to Jay County, this State, in 1848, locating on a farm. For seven years he was engaged in teaching in Jay County, and in 1873 began the study of medicine under the tutelage of Drs. Jay and Stevenson, of Bryant Station. Dear Sir

Enclosed I send check for $16 66/100 which is I think in full of the share of Mary Terwilliger in the estate of Theron Terwilliger that is of the personal estate. The Mother in Michigan as I remember represents five shares two or three of the children of whom she was Guard are dead as I understand but whether their decease occurred at such time as to cast their shares upon the living children I have not been able to learn with certainty. I sent her their amounts and requested her to inform me of the time of their death but have been unable to hear from her. Please sign the accompanying receipt and return to me at this place.

Yours truly

2. Her Mother

ELLIOTT WENT INTO real estate on his return from India, and even though lutifully reported to his office on lower Broadway his real life was as man-at-town. Because of his Himalayan exploits he seemed more glamorous than and had a kind of Guardsman masculinity that captivated young and old :. He had the ability when talking with you, said Fanny Parsons, a friend of nne's, of shutting out the rest of the world and making you feel as if you : the most important thing to him.

> : noticed me at all I had received an accolade, and if on occasion he turned on is charm, he seemed to me quite irresistible. But all the time I knew that his real hip was at the shrine of some mature and recognized belle of the day.

The leading debutante the winter Elliott returned was Anna Hall. He ribed her excitedly as "a tall slender fair-haired little beauty—just out and at belle."

Anna, then almost nineteen, was the eldest of four Hall sisters. All —Anna, Elizabeth (Tissie), Edith (Pussie), and Maude—were society s, and all were considered slightly but attractively mad. Anna was the most etent, and she was also a little cold. Elliott was all spontaneity and tender-while beneath her youth and beauty Anna was a creature of rules and She belonged to Edith Wharton's "old New York," an ordered and hier-cal society "which could enjoy with discrimination but had lost the power :ate."

The Halls were descendants of the landed Livingstons and Ludlows, and Tivoli home on the Hudson was on property originally deeded to the lords ingston Manor through letters patent of Charles II, James II, and George e marriage of Anna's father, Valentine G. Hall, Jr., and her mother, Mary gston Ludlow, represented a merger of a wealthy mercantile family of York City with the landed gentry of the Hudson. The first Ludlow had set-ı New York in 1640, and as early as 1699 a Ludlow was one of provincial les, meaning men of property, and had sat as a member of the Assembly Province of New York. The Ludlow social standing, patriot or Tory, was highest, but along the upper reaches of the Hudson, from Tivoli to Ger-wn, they were overshadowed by the Livingstons.

Anna Hall's grandmother, Elizabeth Livingston, the granddaughter of ellor Livingston, eloped with Edward H. Ludlow, a doctor. Imperious rong-willed, she made her young husband give up his profession because she did not like a doctor's hours. He went into real estate where values were booming and in the period after the Civil War became the city's most respected realtor. That did not soften his wife's disdain for those who carried on the world's business. Once when some business associates came to see him at their house on fashionable Fourth Avenue, she stormed into the parlor, turned off the gas, and announced, "Gentlemen, my husband's office is on lower Broadway." They retired in confusion.

Eleanor remembered her great-grandmother as a very old lady whom she, her Aunt Maude, and Grandma visited regularly on Sundays. One Sunday Grandma Hall was ill and Eleanor and Maude went alone. The old lady refused to accept their explanation for Mrs. Hall's absence and told them to go right back and summon "Molly," which they did. Mrs. Hall dutifully got out of bed. When one of Eleanor's cousins, who was also the old lady's granddaughter, inherited some blue Canton china, she asked her father why so many pieces were missing. "Well, my mother used to throw the plates at my father and myself and so a good many of them were broken," he explained. When Mrs. Ludlow wanted something or felt irate, she banged the floor with her cane, which Eleanor remembered as a very long one. "I was terrified of her," Eleanor later said, adding half in amusement, half in admiration, "she was character."

A picture of this iron-willed lady shows a plain but strong mouth, and if the upper half of her face is covered, the mouth and chin are those of Eleanor Roosevelt.

She and Edward Ludlow had two children—Edward, "the gentlest of men," and Mary, who was mild, submissive, and beautiful. Both married children of Valentine G. Hall.

The senior Valentine Hall was an Irish immigrant. He settled in Brooklyn and by the time he was twenty-one had become a partner in one of the largest commercial houses in the city and had married his partner's daughter. The firm—Tonnele and Hall—enjoyed "unlimited credit" throughout the world. "He had remarkable business ability," his contemporaries said, and before he was fifty retired from business "with a large fortune" that included considerable real estate from Fourteenth to Eighteenth Streets along Sixth Avenue. He lived another thirty-five years but contributed little to civic welfare except for his support of religious enterprises.

His son, Valentine G. Hall, Jr., was a gentleman of solemn dignity who, after some sowing of wild oats and a period of penitence that included attending a theological school, assumed his place in society and executed its obligations and those of his church with punctilious regard. He did not go into business but lived the life of a leisured gentleman. He fathered six children—four daughters and two sons, Valentine and Edward; the Ludlows said he was good for little else. That was not his opinion of himself. In 1872 instead of building a larger town house, he built Oak Terrace at Tivoli, next to the house of his brother-in-law.*

* A family story which Eleanor told with amusement had it that when her Grandfather Hall needed more money to complete his Tivoli house he went to his mother who

Dear Frances

I've been keeping track, or at least trying, of the Viguers family since my youth! (about 1950). The family is rather lucky in that each generation seems to have had a 'record keeper'. The first one to make an effort at keeping things together was Edgar Viguers Seeler, next was Yova and then her daughter Ruth McCoy. And this last generation was my Uncle Ed and myself. Kay Seeler let me see the things she had, she said their was still a person alive you was related directly to Isaac Viguers but for reasons unknown, she never shared with me who it was.

Isaac's two brothers Charles and Thomas seem to be well represented and all the United States Viguers can trace their descent to Philip Viguers. Several families are from 'adopted Viguers' and at least one Canadian Viguers lives in Washington DC (and he's adopted also). Their's about forty related families in the United States and about ten families in Canada. Even though those Canadian families are related to each other, I can find no connection between them and us.

I write because I saw your reference to Ada Viguers on Ancestral File and I know how I am connected to Ada. I also knew Ada had two children and their names and married names (Mott and Price) but then I lose them. I wonder if you would be kind enough to update what I have with dates and additional information. I will be glad to share and Viguers info with you.

Several Viguers live or lived in Florida, my Uncle Tom lived in Ft. Myers, my father's brother. He was a terrific person, he died several years ago. And my sister works for the Boca Post Office.

Hope to hear from you!

His invaluable help made this genealogy possible

Dear Ms. Wooley,

I obtained your name as a submitter of information in the Ancestral File at my Library. My husband, Roger Ludlow is the grandson of Talma Ludlow. My father-in-in law was John Ludlow, brother of Ernest Ludlow. I am interested in finding out what your relationship to the Ludlow family is and I thought I should let you know that the information you have submitted is incorrect.

First of all my husband's great-grandmother's name was Anna Wills (not Nillo) and she was born in Indiana in October 1845. Talma Ernest Ludlow was also born in Indiana in 1873 and he married Ida Arbilla Braastad in Ishpeming, Michigan in November 1903. The family remained in Ishpeming where all their children were born, including Ernest Ludlow.

I have in my possession documents that have been passed down, including birth and marriage certificates.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Thank you,

Carol.

Dear Fran,

I really apologize for taking so long to respond to you. Just about the time that I received your response I discovered that my father had cancer and would be having major surgery and so I packed in a hurry and flew to England to help my mum take care of him. I don't believe that I told you I am English and all my family is still over there. Anyway he had 75% of his liver removed and his gall bladder and he is making a remarkable recovery. The danger was that he has already had major heart surgery and he is 75 but his determination that he would survive is so great that I am sure that contributed a lot to his recovery.

Anyway I returned a few weeks ago and I am now trying to get back into the swing of things again.

Thank you so much for sending me the list of people who have contacted you. In answer to your question on Anna Wills' first name, yes it was Hester. I am trying to work out your husband's relationship to my husband and so if you can tell me his connection to Anna Wills that will help.

It appears that the Ludlow's were a very documented line and I have a lot of this (back to 1500's in Derbyshire, England) which I will try to gather together to send to you. I started off researching the Wills line but got sidetracked. I am going to try and get back on that again.

I look forward to hearing from you.

(These Warren County Cemetery Inscriptions were taken from History of Warren County, Ohio by W.H. Beers & Co., 1882. They are unusual because of the early dates of birth. A large number were born before year 1800. Quite a number of families came to this area from New Jersey between the years 1800 and 1817. One area was known as the Jersey Settlement.)
